Clouds in forecast

Cloudy skies with temperatures in the high 70s are predicted for Thursday, Friday and Saturday with possible thunderstorms. Keep your fingers crossed for good weather on Sunday.

Lion needs new home

Sumpter Township officials are seeking a court order to require a resident to find a new home for her 125-pound female lion – somewhere other than Sumpter Township.

Last month, residents saw the woman walking the lion on Wear Road and reported the incident to police.

The Michigan Anti-Cruelty Society took the 7-month-old African lion into custody on July 31.

Coffee hours slated

Congresswoman Lynn Rivers has scheduled coffee hours today (Aug. 14) from 8:30 to 10 a.m. at Bakers Square, 36101 Warren, Westland and from 8:30 to 10 a.m. Aug. 19 at the Garden Patch Restaurant, 38910 Michign Ave., Wayne.

Residents can pose questions to the Congresswoman and discuss current issues.

Experience clarified

In the candidate sketch, which appeared in the Aug. 7 edition of the Wayne Eagle, it should have been reported that Norma Collop was a candidate fo the county clerk's office in 1992, not that she had been elected to that office.

Collop was appointed to serve as city clerk from 1982 to 1990. She is now seeking a place on the November ballot for city council.

Nominees sought

Nominations for the annual Women of Achievement Awards, sponsored by the YWCA of Western Wayne County are being sought.

Contact the YWCA at 561-4110 for additional information.

Questions due tonight on Goddard Road issues

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Anxious Romulus citizens will be given an opportunity tonight to question Mayor William Oakley and Department of Public Works Director David Paul on the progress of the current Goddard road work project.

Residents wishing to be part of the audience at the "Mayor's Chair" cable TV show in the council chambers, need to arrive by 6:15 p.m. The program is hosted by Gwen Sibert.

Those wishing to call in a question to Oakley or Paul can begin at 6 p.m. The number is 942-7571.

Local residents complained last week when the city reported "5-Points is open to traffic." They stated that in reality "only 4-Points" were open with the Goddard road connection the missing link.

That missing link continues to hurt their business operations, they said.

On Monday night residents heard the city's architects state that they expect the Goddard road concrete work from 5-Points to the railroad tracks to be completed in 8-10 days.

The architects, Alan McComb, Bill Reed and Jeff McIntosh, fielded a number of questions from Mayor pro tem Randolph Gear and fellow council members.

After their public discussion, the architects told the press that they see no reason why the project cannot be completed this year, except for some of the shrubbery that needs to be installed.

That completion will depend on current and future work efforts by Lanzo Construction Co., the main contractor for the project. The date of Nov. 15 is usually used as a cut off point for construction each fall, as the temperatures dip at that time.

Almost all city officials realized that the downtown project was going to be difficult from day one, but they felt short work crews and other construction problems added to the project's woes.

The architects admitted they recommended the Lanzo firm, the low bidder for the project, since there were no real negative marks on the company's past record.

But because of "tiny work crews, lack of on the job supervision, a recent history of not returning phone calls about the project," the trio said they would not be able to recommend the Lanzo firm's work in the future.

When asked if it would have been wiser for the city to break the project down into different time phases, the architects said no as that could have turned the effort into a multi-year project.

Councilman William Crova, whose truck business has also been impacted by the road work, compared the road project to "having your kitchen remodeled."

The remodeling process causes all kinds of problems while it is being done, Crova said, but upon completion it is both beautiful and much more useful.

Crova said he expects the same results with the 5-Points and Goddard road work.

Downing doesn't rule out running

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Former Romulus Community Development Director Jane Downing, often mentioned as a possible write-in candidate for mayor, revealed Tuesday morning that she has made no such decision.

But Downing said she has been urged to run by numerous city residents and has not totally discounted their requests. No time limit for her decision has been set up, she said.

At this time, incumbent Mayor William Oakley is being challenged by Theodore (Larry) Romak and Leo Knasiak in the Sept. 9 primary. Many election watchers feel that Downing would have a good chance to defeat the two challengers in the primary and then could face Oakley one-on-one in November.

But write-in campaign's are tough at best and time is quickly running out for such an effort, most observers said.

Downing, once considered former Mayor Beverly McAnally's heir apparent, has worked in recent years as assistant to Rochester Hills Mayor Ken Snell, earning over $66,700 a year.

It was reported that she resigned that job last month during a tearful appearance before that city's official body.

She gave no reason at that time, except that she planned to exercise other options.

Jane Downing

Snell offered no official statement on Downing's departure.

Downing, who said she loves Romulus and has continued to watch the city council proceedings weekly on Cable TV, attended Monday night's council meeting in person.

She urged that the city not accept either bid on a 10.9 acre parcel on Van Born road, currently being battled over by two local businesses.

She felt both bids were too low and asked that the city hold on to the property for a potential much larger sale price later on.

But the council rejected her request and the high bid of $180,000 by City Environmental Inc. (Anthony Soave).

The majority of the council decided instead to accept the bid of $160,000 from BLB Corp.

Bedell back on job; Teasdale leaving for Trenton position

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Romulus longtime Superintendent Dr. William Bedell has returned to work following cancer surgery this past June.

Bedell renewed his office duties on Monday, sporting a new beard and enthusiasm for the new school year. Since Bedell is still recuperating from his surgery, he will be working limited hours the first week or so.

It later was announced that Michael Teasdale, director of the Romulus- Van Buren Community Education program, has announced his resignation. Teasdale has accepted the position of principal of Trenton High School. He will start on Aug. 25.

Human Relations Director Sam LaMonica said talks began with a possible successor to Teasdale early Tuesday afternoon. "Some quick decisions will have to be made since the school year is about to begin in a few weeks," LaMonica said.

Teasdale, who admits having a number of close friends in the Trenton School District, said it is "hard to leave Romulus schools after 23 years."

Mike Teasdale

He was sought after because the Trenton district is beginning a massive technology upgrading of their schools and they wanted someone, who was familiar with that concept as their leader.

But leaving behind the supportive team of Bedell, Curriculum Director Thomas Dolan and Romulus High Principal Daniel Hurst is an emotional one, Teasdale said, since they were important factors in his educational career growth.

But at the same time it is hard to give up a chance to be principal in a Class A school district, he said, since such opportunities don't always repeat themselves.

At the Romulus School Board meeting Monday night, it also was announced that two new Middle School teachers have been added to the staff. They are Daniel McCabe, a social science teacher, and Kim Jensen, a science teacher.

In addition, the administration has suspended high school math teacher John Lynch and began legal procedures to end his 26-year-career in Romulus.

Lynch has the right to appeal the board's decision within 20 days.

The school board voted unanimously Monday night to support the charges he is "not competent as a classroom instructor" and to suspend him from any teaching duties this fall.

LaMonica said a replacement for Lynch has already been hired.

Sign school compact, trustees request

This is the second of three articles composed by Romulus School Board President Julie Oleszkowicz as a prelude to the new school year.

The Romulus School Board working hard last fall with the district's Community Committee successfully introduced the new student/parent/school compact.

The reviews at that time were mixed and I was thrilled. Many parents found it to be just what they were looking for--a guide to help them steer their child's education.

Others were offended, feeling the board was trying to tell them how to raise their child. This debate over the Compact has been healthy.

The fact that there were so many comments meant the community was reading it and thinking about the impact of the document.

Two years ago, when the board went to work to re-shape the school district, our overall goal was never in doubt. In order to become competitive in this rapidly changing society, the stakes were being raised quickly.

The impact of the new High School Proficiency Test, a demanding job market and the need for increased cooperative "people skills" are now part of a student's life.

It no longer matters if our high school students are college or career bound, the necessary skills are identical. But, how were we to get started on this staggering goal?

Our first task was to make sure everyone was working on the same page. We needed to make sure that our curriculum was aligned.

All students would be exposed to the same educational outcomes and goals regardless of the school or teacher.

Realizing that everyone is different, and not every child learns the same way, we needed a basic guide. This became the first task for the Community Committee.

One of the catch phrases of the 90's is "it takes a village to raise a child." Most of us grew up at a time when that was absolutely true. We were closer to our family and knew our neighbors.

The pace of today's society has removed the closeness from a lot of our children. However, we know that teamwork between the parent, student and school will help to insure success for everyone. From that framework the compact was born.

How many times have we as parents said it would be a lot easier if our kids came with owner's manuals? The concept of the compact is quite simple.

It states what the school will provide, and how you as a parent can work with your child to make school a positive experience. It also explains expectations for the child.

In our attempt to make life easier for our children, we often forget they have responsibilities also.

Parameters are part of life. When your child starts riding a bike, you don't say "see you in an hour." Most likely, there are rules as to how far he/she can ride and where he/she should ride.

When a teen starts going out on his/her own, we need to know where he/she is going, who is he/she with and there is an agreed time to return home.

At a place of employment, there are standards with regard to working hours, rate of pay, dress code, etc.

When you receive the compact this fall, please read and sign it with your child. We, as the school will provide a safe, respectful, challenging learning environment for the student.

We expect the student to come to school prepared to learn with a positive attitude.

And, you as the parent will support both your child and the school in this endeavor. This teamwork is a win/win/win system for all of us.

The future is in our hands.

Family stays on target

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

At 7, Michelle Birchard took up her father's hobby. Ten years later, she's still at it. In fact, last week, both father and daughter competed at the same tournament.

The Birchards were among 550 shooters competing in the 113th National Target Championship, which was held in Canton Township Aug. 2 through 8.

Michelle, a senior at Wayne Memorial High School, began competing when she was 8. The hobby was fun for her, because her father, John, teaches archery for the Western Wayne County Conservation Association. In 1994, Michelle started getting serious about the sport.

Over the years, Michelle, a Westland resident, has competed in national championships in Atlanta, Ga., Pennsylvania, Michigan, California, Texas, and Massachusetts.

"I like this sport because you're not competing against other people, you're competing with yourself," she said. "You try to do the best you can. You set your own goals, and try to meet them."

While she competes at both indoor and outdoor tournaments, Michelle said she prefers the indoor competition. She has won quite a few of the indoor competitions, including a fourth place in the nationals held in San Diego.

"At the indoor ranges, all of the targets are set at 18 meters," she explained. "You can work more on your form and the mental part. Outside, you have so many things going on at once. You have to deal with the weather, especially the wind."

During the championship held in Canton, the weather was a major factor, as shooters dealt with wind, rain, heat, humidity, and cool temperatures, all over three days.

According to Sherry Birchard, Michelle's mother, the National Target Championship had been held in Oxford, Ohio, for 111 years. Last year, they were held in Orlando, Fla., but the heat was too intense. She explained that the Detroit Visitors Bureau then tried to get the tournament moved to this area.

> "I like this sport because you're not competing against other people, you're competing with yourself."
> - Michelle Birchard

"It's worked out very well," said Sherry, who is also an archer, as is her son. "There have been very few bugs, and the weather has held out pretty good."

Michelle, who can shoot 90 meters, said she has given some thoughts to trying out for the Olympic team.

"If I did, I would have to start practicing very soon," she said. "It would be a dream."

Sherry explained that her daughter is also a varsity cheerleader for the Zebras, and is also involved in the Students Against Drunk Driving. Archery is so time consuming, she doesn't really have time for anything else.

John Birchard, who still teaches the sport at the Conservation Association in Plymouth Township on Napier Road, explained that there are three things which make someone a good shooter.

"Equipment, form, and mental game are the major parts," he said. "Everyone uses the same equipment and the same form. Whoever has a better frame of mind will win the game."

He explained that the youngest student in his class right now is 6 years old. If you are interested in getting started in the sport, he suggested contacting the local sportsman club, conservation club, or 4-H Club.

Greg Baracy expected to be named superintendent

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

A home in Westland goes with the territory if your title is Superintendent of Wayne-Westland Community Schools.

So Board President Debra Fowlkes anticipates Interim Superintendent Greg Baracy's move from Canton into the district if the board does the expected and hires him as the district's next superintendent on Aug. 18.

Baracy, who's two children attend Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, would transfer schools.

"If the board makes that decision, I will come back as quickly as possible," said Baracy.

On July 29, a committee of three, Fowlkes, Matt McCusker, and Robin Moore, met for 20 minutes and agreed to recommend the hiring.

"My confidence in him is partly based on the fact that his kids will be attending Wayne-Westland schools so he will do more," Fowlkes said.

Baracy's appointment would provide continuity. "Greg has been with the district a number of years, the last four as assistant superintendent," she said. "We need someone who will walk into the job so Greg's a natural -- he's already there."

Lack of money to spend on a superintendent search and a strong endorsement from outgoing Superintendent Duane Moore influenced the committee's recommend.

"Had Duane not recommended him, we would have had a search," said Fowlkes.

Odds are overwhelming that the board will hire Baracy, sources told us.

"The next step will be for us to meet with our attorneys to draw up a contract," she said.

Despite getting the committee's support, Baracy cautioned us not to consider his appointment a done deal.

"I'm delighted the board is considering me, but this is Westland and anything can happen," he said.

Despite his doubts, Baracy attended a board retreat and played a part in developing district goals, Fowlkes said.

Goals include reducing the district's dropout rate down and putting it's financial house in order.

"We want to make sure that we're solvent and stay solvent," Fowlkes said.

Baracy said the district would spend its money wisely to provide the best education it could afford.

The most pressing financial problem is how to eliminate the district's projected $2.4 million deficit.

Local state legislators Sen. Loren Bennett (R-Canton) and Rep. Tom Kelly (D-Wayne) each had a hand in passing a last-minute budget amendment that would've almost wiped out the district's red ink.

But Gov. John Engler vetoed the bail out a week ago Friday, the day after the state Supreme Court ruled that the state must return more than $100 million to local school districts and taxpayers who the state fleeced out of money for special education and other mandated programs that the state, not the local districts, are required to pay for.

Bennett and Kelly said that the governor vetoed the Wayne-Westland bail out and all other last-minute budget additions to free up money for the settlement.

Worse, according to Patty Brand, the district's financial director, the governor also vetoed the district's $1.5 million "at risk" funding money.

"This money was significant," Brand said. "We were told it wouldn't be touched, so we committed a lot of it to "at risk" programs, including hiring people."

However, the loss of $1.5 million "at risk" money was offset by a gain of $1.5 million for special education.

"This isn't a wash, we'll probably lose a little bit," said Brand, who declined to make a definitive calculation until the state determines how the additional special education money will be paid.

Fund raisers planned for Belleville cancer victim

This week means several fund-raising events will be held to aid Harold Hemphill, of Belleville, who is in urgent need of a bone marrow transplant.

On Aug. 15, beginning at 8 p.m., the Ypsi-Arbor Bowling Alley (2985 Washtenaw, Ypsilanti) will be hosting a bowl-a-thon in honor of Hemphill. Tickets to bowl may be purchased at the bowling alley for a $10 donation. All proceeds will go toward the Harold Hemphill Bone Marrow Fund.

From 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Aug. 15 and 16, there will be a bake sale and hot dog and soda sale at Wal-Mart, located on Ellsworth Road in Ypsilanti. Wal-Mart will match all donations received from this sale for the Harold Hemphill Bone Marrow Fund.

Water and pop will be sold in Hemphill's name during the Heritage Festival Aug. 15 (12 to 8 p.m.), Aug. 16 (10 a.m. to 8 p.m.), and Aug. 17 (10 a.m. to 6 p.m.). The booth will be located in the River Park area of Ypsilanti.

Harold G. Hemphill

From 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sept. 13, there will be a bone marrow drive at Van Buren Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Road. The need to locate a bone marrow donor is urgent. Only two small vials of blood will be taken.

BPW searches for Young Careerist to honor

Belleville's Business and Professional Women's Club is looking for a Young Career Woman.

One of the most vital functions of the BPW organization is its Young Careerist program. This program introduces young career persons to the goals and objectives of our local organization. They are given the opportunity to experience the inner workings of an organization created to help working women.

To be eligible, a young person must: Be between the ages of 25 and 35 inclusive at the time of National Convention; Be or have been employed in business or the professions with at least one year of full-time work experience in her career area; Be outstanding in scholastic work, community service, and/or church work; Be living, working, training or continuing her education in the area served by the State Federation she represents; Support the goals, objectives and Legislative Platform of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. of the USA.

The young careerist must acknowledge her availability to attend the Young Careerist Program if she is selected, and must not have been a candidate in the program at the District or State level in any prior year in this or any other state. The state young careerist must be a BPW/USA member before being recognized at the National Convention as the young careerist representing the federation. The candidates must also provide a photo and biography.

Submit your name by Oct. 6 to Sophie Zoller, 16121 Haggerty Road, Belleville, Mich. 48111-6006, or call for more information (313) 697- 7379.

Romulus sailor heads to exotic ports

He and his crew members expect to be visiting Venezuela, Colombia, Peru, Argentina and Brazil.

The son of Richard and Karen Hogue and son-in-law of Thomas Sapienza of Romulus, Hogue is participating in the five month Unitas '97, an annual training exercise for U.S. Navy and South American maritime forces.

A 1983 graduate of Romulus Senior High School, Hogue said he joined the Navy after graduating from high school to get a job and better himself.

"First, my father gave me a 'haircut and get a real job' speech, then he took me job hunting to the recruiter's office," Hogue explained.

Jeffrey Hogue

That was more than a decade ago and "I still stand by the direction that I took. My father, whom I now know is the wisest man in my life, helped me take charge of my life and I am glad of it. Thanks, Dad," Hogue added.

Hogue serves as a damage controlman onboard the dock-landing ship performing maintenance and upkeep on fire-fighting systems and equipment.

"What I like best about my job is how 10 people have united under one common mission, the fire safety and battle readiness of our ship. We take our business seriously and are among the best fire controlmen the Navy has," he said.

Since joining the Navy, Hogue has traveled to several foreign countries, including Cuba, Italy, Greece, and Israel. And this summer, he'll be adding several South American ports to that list as part of the Unitas cruise.

Unitas, which is the Latin word for unity, lives up to its name. Originating in 1959, the purpose of Unitas is to conduct bilateral and multilateral naval operations including traditional at-sea operations, amphibious operations, riverine operations and import exercises with participating naval forces in support of the U.S. policy of engagement in South America.

This year, the exercise includes 25 ships and a variety of aircraft from 11 countries including Canada, Colombia, Ecuador, France, Germany and Venezuela.

Through a variety of drills, exercises and scenarios, testing everything from basic seamanship skills to high-tech weapons systems, Unitas is designed to bring out the best in each sailor involved.

By training together each year, all of the participating navies are better prepared, should they need to operate together in the future to face a real world threat or crisis.

Besides the professional training Unitas affords the sailors, Marines and Coast Guardsmen of each nation involved, it also offers an opportunity for U.S. participants to visit each participating country.

People-to-people interchanges take place through seminars, sporting and social events and exchange programs.

In addition, sailors and Marines like Hogue are volunteering in community relations projects which benefit the communities they visit, and increase interaction between U.S. and host-nation citizens.

These projects include painting and minor repairs to institutions such as orphanages, schools and hospitals. Also, sailors and Marines normally deliver food, clothing health supplies and other goods provided by Project Handclasp, a cornerstone of the Navy's people-to- people program.

Hogue says his time in the Navy has taught him many lessons he could learn nowhere else. "My philosophy is to treat people how I would want to be treated, both on and off the job," he said.

"I want people who work for me to remember me as someone that they trusted and as one who helped them with their problems," Hogue said.

Hogue, who has been awarded three Navy Achievement Medals for meritorious service, received his first during recruiting duty back in Wayne.

"I was awarded the medal for recruiting over 30 people, but personally, I feel that the reward was for giving 30 people an opportunity to better themselves," he said.

Hogue met his wife of 11 years, the former Judith Sapienza, when he was 16. "I've been with her for one half of my life and it's still working," he said. "When she is happy, I am happy and nothing makes me happier than making her laugh or seeing her smile."

As for his future, Hogue plans to remain in the Navy until eligible to retire. His plans are to become a full-time Navy counselor, assisting naval personnel with career decisions.

When I do eventually retire, my wife and I plan to move back to Michigan to settle where I will continue to promote the company that did so much for me, my life and my family...the U.S. Navy."

Help a homeless animal

In an effort to increase awareness about the plight of homeless animals, the Michigan Humane Society (MHS) is asking for canned pet food donations in recognition of "National Homeless Animals Day" on Aug. 16.

"Homeless Animals Day" was created to commemorate the approximately 15 million dogs, cats, puppies and kittens, that are euthanized each year in our nation's shelters.

"Pet overpopulation is an enormous problem. The majority of animals we take in are healthy, good natured pets that are put to death simply because there are not enough homes available" says Michele Mitchell, MHS Community Relations Director. "Responsible pet ownership includes sterilizing your pet."

Those wanting to donate canned pet food in support of "Homeless Animals Day" can visit any of the three MHS shelters; 7401 Chrysler Drive in Detroit, 3600 Auburn Road in Rochester Hills, and 37255 Marquette in Westland. Everyone who donates will receive an "I helped A Homeless Animal" sticker.

Besides spraying or neutering your pet, other ways to help homeless animals include:

- Adopt an animal from the Michigan Humane Society or your local shelter.
- Make sure your pets wear proper identification at all times.
- Do not adopt a pet unless you are willing to make a lifetime commitment.
- Volunteer time at the MHS or your local shelter.

All food donated will help feed the more than 52,000 homeless, abandoned, and injured animals cared for each year by the MHS. The Michigan Humane Society is a private, nonprofit organization dedicated to serving the animals since 1877.

All in a day's work

Reflections
Joan Dyer-Zinner

If you've ever thought about working for the Family Independence Agency (formerly the Department of Social Services) you may change your mind after reading the "safety tips" that were handed out to its employees recently.

The list was sent to me along with an unsigned note from a worker who added this note, "Remember, workers are not provided cellular phones (the County believes they would be misused) and are required to do home calls alone." There were no other comments, other than stars placed in front of some of the "safety tips." I assume that the worker thought that the hand out would tell its own story.

The Home Calls Personal Safety Training list begins with a note stating "the district management team recommends that you keep a copy of this information and that you review it periodically." It also said that Project Zero offices have not reported any incidents of employees being injured due to violence during home calls.

However, the list of suggestions tends to be a bit extreme if no serious problems have been reported.

The FIA worker who sent the list marked two items on the "Personal and Property Safety" list: Don't take your purse with you and don't leave it in the car — they suggest that purses and valuables be left in the office — and don't wear jewelry.

I tend to agree that wearing expensive jewelry might attract unwanted attention, but how can a woman get along without a purse? Where would one keep lipstick, a comb or brush, car keys, tissues, pack of business cards, sun glasses, note pad, personal telephone directory, bottle of aspirins and all of the other "necessities" that are carried in a purse?

Do not wear expensive clothing, but do dress professionally, the list recommends. For many of us, that would be a Catch-22. What standard would one use to determine if clothing is expensive? And, if the clothing appears to be expensive, would someone rip it off the worker's back? The home visitors aren't apt to wear starter jackets or name-brand sports shoes, which seem to be the items of choice among street thugs, but would they be interested in a smartly tailored navy blue suit from Lord & Taylor?

Do not park in front of the home, the list advises. Instead, one should approach from the side to get a better view and have time to react to threatening situations.

What kind of threatening situations do these home visitation workers encounter on their visits, I wondered?

I got a clue from another tip highlighted by the worker — "If a customer answers the door naked or partially naked, reschedule the visit. Don't let him/her know that you're surprised or offended. Politely tell the customer that you caught him/her at an inconvenient time and that you will reschedule the visit." It didn't state whether the worker should avert his/her glance or attempt to retain eye contact, but it was certainly in keeping with a "politically correct" attitude.

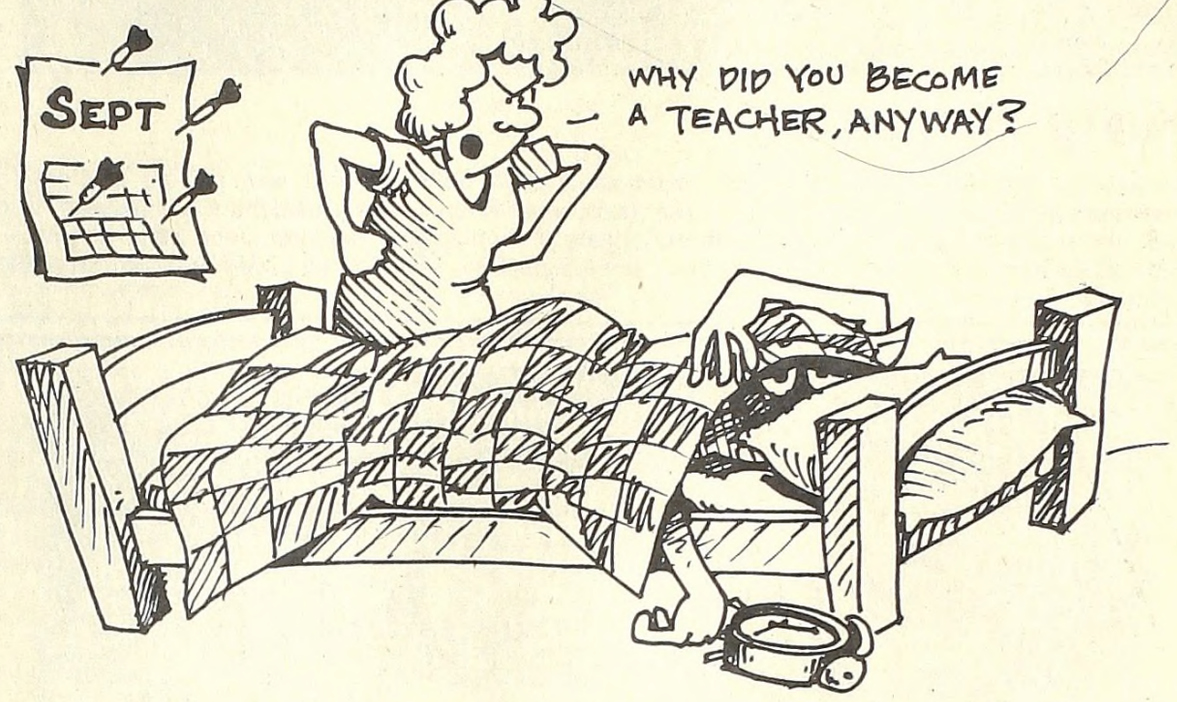

Two other highlighted portions read: "In apartments, take stairways; don't enter if gangs are visible; turn around while going along hallways; if someone's approaching you, continue toward them stating you forgot something and return late," and "if confronted by someone and they ask you to go with them, refuse." Seemingly, good advice, except for the "return later" part.

This sounds more like rules for combat duty or undercover work than suggestions to a professional human services worker making home calls.

My least favorite rule notes, "Insect infestation — Avoid leaning, touching, sitting. Try not to step on roaches. You many carry eggs home or to your car. Shake/stamp feet before getting into your car.

The list concludes, "After the home visit, be as cautious leaving as you were entering, immediately drive away (do your notes in a safe environment) and call in to the office at the end of each home call period." They obviously forgot to add, "Have a nice day."

My hat is off to the workers who have to brave roaches, naked bodies, gangs and thieves during their daily visits — you're braver people than I. Please don't bother to send me an application — I'm looking into a safer occupation, something like defusing live bombs, or joining TV's Nikita in counter-intelligence work.

Innovations adopted for schools

By JAMES N. RUTTER
Superintendent
Inkster Public Schools

Guest Editorial
James N. Rutter

We, the Inkster Public School Board and I, are proud to announce the opening of our new magnet school. Our magnet school is designed to allow our children to become the best in fine arts, music, academics and printing. This will mark the beginning of a new era in the Inkster Public Schools.

Along with the magnet school, we have a comprehensive plan for restructuring the district that will produce an educational package for all children. It is designed to leave "no child behind."

These comprehensive changes will address Early Elementary Education, Upper Elementary Education and Junior and Senior High Programs. There will be a greater emphasis on technology in all of our classrooms.

We believe that every child can be a successful learner if the conditions of teaching and learning are conducive to that end. It is my job as the superintendent, under the direction of the board, to address the conditions that relate to the education of our children. These conditions require sound support from the community at large in our educational process through workshops, forums and one-to-one contacts.

We have mandated that our teaching and support staff create an environment that is conducive to learning by encouraging parents to be involved throughout the educational process of their child.

The Inkster Public School District is committed to providing leadership in the development of improved, renewed and restructured educational programs and training services to meet the dynamic and evolving needs of our community. We are all committed to the elimination of crisis management by implementing sound decision making at all levels. The Inkster School District is ready to serve its community.

Nursing home initiative in high gear

By KATHLEEN M. WILBUR
Michigan Department of Consumer & Industry Services

The well-being of our mothers, fathers and other loved ones in Michigan's 458 nursing homes will be strengthened and ensured by a plan developed through the state's newest consumer protection agency.

Unveiled in June by the Michigan Department of Consumer & Industry Services, the Nursing Home Resident Protection Initiative will improve quality care by putting more teeth into the state's enforcement system.

The new NHRP iniatiatige does the following:

- Establishes an enforcement unit.
- Computerizes enforcement information.
- Establishes a formula to identify poor performance.
- Requires vigorous, early intervention to respond to poor performance and protect consumers.
- Institutes a public/private project to monitor quality improvement, correct care problems and provide consumer education.
- Assures timely, objective review of disputed deficiencies.

As an administrator, I am committed to improving quality of care for all Michigan nursing home residents, and reducing incidents of poor performance. As the mother of young children and the daughter-in-law of seniors, I also have a personal stake in ensuring good choices that maintain high standards and integrity. Governor John Engler and I expect the Nursing Home Resident Protection Plan to achieve these goals.

Story updated

To the editor:

The July 31, 1997 edition of the Michigan Community Newspapers, included a section of "Western Wayne County's home town newspaper for half a century". This was a very interesting section of the paper. I would like to see something like this more often.

I would like to bring to your attention a correction for one of the articles in this section, Page-15 "Westland has grown to the 10th largest city". There is a small section about the Nankin Township Fire Department. The information you have about the first fire truck is not correct. I offer the following information to you.

Nankin Township did purchase a fire truck in 1947. This rig became part of the Wayne Nankin Fire Department, for use in Nankin Township, but at times it was used in the village of Wayne.

The truck was a 1947 International John Beam Fire Truck. It was built in Lansing, Michigan.

It came with a 500 gallon per minute front mounted centrifugal pump and a 500 gallon per minute high pressure fog midship mounted pump, giving the rig a total pumping capacity of 1,000 gallon per minutes. This rig had a 500 gallon on board water tank.

This truck was in service in the Wayne Nankin Fire Department, until 1963 when the Nankin Township Fire Department started it's own fire department, and in 1966 it became a part of the Westland Fire Department when the township became a city in 1966. This rig served the fire department for 26 years until 1973, when it was turned over to the Westland Parks and Recreation Department where it was used to water ball fields. In October of 1974, this rig was purchased by the Mutual Aid Fire Squad of Michigan, Inc., who used it until August 8, 1977 and responded to many fires in the Western Wayne County Area with the rig. In 1977 the Mutual Aid Fire Squad of Michigan Inc. sold this rig to a private collector in the Jackson area.

Thank you for your time and cooperation.

Child located

To the editor:

Thank you for assisting the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children in the search for missing children. The distribution of missing children's photographs is an important step towards the recovery of these children. One in seven children is recovering as a result of someone recognizing the child's photo and alerting authorities.

Due to everyone's effort and support, the Center is pleased to inform you that Dawn Nicholson has been located. As soon as it is possible for you to do so, please remove her photograph from circulation.

Democrats deliver

To the editor:

Last year, Democrats ran for the Michigan House of Representatives pledging to cut taxes for working families, improve public education, and fight crime by putting more cops on the beat. In just seven short months, House Democrats have delivered on our elections-years promises.

Although the Governor failed to make a tax cut part of his legislative plan for 1997, House Democrats led the effort to enact an across-the-board tax cut for individuals and families. Our tax cut, which included a $200 increase in the standard income tax deduction and extra deductions of $600 for children under 6 and $300 for children 6-12, will save families of four as much as $85 on their 1998 state income taxes. We also made college more affordable, doubling the state's college tuition tax credit and expanding the maximum credit to $375.

House Democrats fought successfully to increase the state minimum wage to $5.15 per hour, so workers not covered by the federal minimum wage aren't cheated. We passed a balanced state budget. In the budget, House Democrats secured $10 million to put 5,000 more police officers on patrol in local neighborhoods. We expanded funding for local schools, and secured more job training funds for community colleges.

Thanks to our accomplishments, Michigan's families will earn more and keep more. They will be safer in their homes. Their children will attend better schools. College will be more affordable, and job training more accessible. Thanks to House Democrats, this year Michigan's families are more secure than ever before.

Police Reports

The Van Buren Public Safety Department handled a variety of calls during the week of July 28 to Aug. 3:

A rollover accident at 1:24 a.m. July 28 on Rawsonville, south of Bog Road, resulted in injuries and an arrest for operating under the influence of liqour.

Breaking and entering of a garage was reported at 5:46 a.m. in the 14000 block of Elwell.

Assault and battery of a juvenile was reported on Maple Street at 5:24 p.m. July 29.

A stolen motorcycle was reported at 5:41 p.m. July 30 in the 14000 block of Elwell.

An assault and battery was reported at 8:17 p.m. in the 8800 block of Parkwood.

A domestic dispute was reported at 8:20 p.m. July 31 in the 49000 block of the South Service Drive.

A medical call in the 9000 block of Haggerty Road at 6:56 a.m. Aug. 1 was turned over to the the Huron Valley Ambulance Company. At 7:37 a.m., a gas leak was discovered at the same residence, and was turned over to the fire department.

A stabbing was reported on Firecracker Island at 8:35 p.m. Aug. 2, but nothing was discovered by police.

Two juveniles were apprehended Aug. 3 after stealing a canister containing money collected for the Lion's Club. Approximately $4 was recovered, and the teens were turned over to their parents.

The Van Buren Fire Department was kept busy between 8:48 and 11:20 p.m. with four medical emergencies in different areas in the township.

A complaint was made at 8:55 p.m. regarding trespassers at Tyler Cemetary and the rock quarry.

At 11:53 p.m., officers made an arrest for possession of marijuana in the 48000 block of the South Service Drive.

Narcotics paraphernalia was found at Town and Country at 12:23 p.m. July 25.

A house fire was reported at 6:36 a.m. July 26 in the 46000 block of Hull Road.

Indecent exposure was reported at 6:46 p.m. in the 2000 block of Rawsonville Road.

A semi-truck smacked into a telephone pole at 2:47 p.m. July 27 in the vicinity of Belleville Road and Van Born.

A recently enacted Michigan statute increases the penalty for intentionally making a false report of the commission of a felony to a peace officer of this state from a misdemeanor to a felony.

"Translation-- people caught falsely reporting their cars stolen or car jacked, will no longer face a misdemeanor charge, but will face a felony charge with a sentence of four years in prison and/or $2,000 fine," said Inspector Richardson of the Violent Crime Task Force.

It has been a felony to fraudulently obtain amounts over $100, such as filing a false insurance claim. But prior to enactment of the new statute, Michigan auto insurance holders were facing a classic "Catch 22" -- escalating fraudulent insurance claims and a judicial system that made it difficult for insurance companies to work with law enforcement to pursue people filing fraudulent claims.

as our Mayor's time on cable, he's been doing this for quite a long time. It's not an election gimmick.

The people enjoy the Town Hall meetings. It gives them a chance to bring their problems face to face with the Mayor. As mayor, Ken, I'm sure you could do the same, if you wished. You and I have enjoyed our city for many years and worked together on campaigns. We didn't choose to make them nasty then. Let's not do it now. Just tell the people what you choose to do if you're elected. That's what they want to hear -- not your opponent's are wrong or right.

Let's have a clear and wholesome election and go on with our city, no matter who wins.

Currency/ Armageddon?

To the editor:

Our so-called Global Economy is starting to resemble an alcoholic who "must" consume a quart of whiskey every day. At first, things seem OK, but eventually there is a horrible price to pay.

I am referring to the startling number of currency collapses and devaluations that are sweeping the globe.

The list of affected countries is long and spans several continents. In Europe, Poland and the Czech Republic are devaluing their currencies. Places like Albania and the republics of the former Soviet Union, including Russia, are virtual currency basket cases.

Even the once mighty German mark is now under pressure. Germany now faces the dilemma of having to raise interest rates to protect the mark at a time when German unemployment is at post-war highs.

In Asia -- Thailand, Indonesia, Malaysia, and the Philippines are in or near currency collapse. Even Hong Kong and Singapore seem vulnerable. China is existing in a fool's paradise, living off the American consumer for the time being.

The problem is that we are descending into a kind of post-Keynesian economic "end game."

For decades we have relied on consumption and debt to sustain "economic health." We have pretended that production is largely irrelevant as long as consumption can be kept artificially high by any means necessary.

The heretical divorce of production and consumption, which occurs in a global economy, has created massive and insoluble balance of payments problems for most developed nations.

As capital searches the globe for ever cheaper labor, developed nations, like Germany and Japan, collapse. And, pauper nations, like China and Thailand, enjoy false and unsustainable "booms" based on massively export driven economies.

The only reason that the U.S. survives this "Currency Disease" is because the U.S. dollar is the world's reserve currency, which means it is treated exactly like gold was in the old days.

The U.S. Dollar is the currency of first, last, and only resort in many unstable countries. If the U.S. Dollar were to lose its credibility, the world economy, as we have known it since the War, will end.

We will have entered an "economic black hole." All the rules will change, all bets will be off, all predictability lost.

The point is, there is no "American Miracle." It is only the Dollar's position at the top of the post-war currency "food chain" that has sustained us thus far.

Will the political and economic elites be able to hide in their Temples of Prosperity on Wall Street? Will Wall Street survive the coming catastrophe?

'Bookends' tell library tales

Guest Column

Today marks the debut of a new column: Bookends, news from the Wayne Public Library. The column is scheduled to appear every other week, so look for announcements of upcoming events, new services, and new books at the new library.

The Wayne Library will be open throughout the Michigan Avenue construction. The parking structure will be open, but entrance is off Second Street and then Veterans Plaza Drive. Cars will exit onto an access lane of Michigan Avenue eastbound.

We are pleased to announce that a color copier is now available at the Library. It is located in the lobby area and will make full color copies for $1 per page. Come in and do reports or papers or just copy your favorite pictures!

Starting this week after Labor Day, the Library will be open on Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m. Make Sunday a family day and bring everyone in for good reading, new movies, or good music! The library's regular hours are Monday through Thursday: 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Friday and Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Deanna Lee, 5, reads at the Wayne Library.

Starting the week after Labor Day, the Library will be open on Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m.

The Wayne Library has added a larger monitor to one of the book catalog computers. Even if you don't use bifocals, you may like the look of a less crowded screen. Let us know what you think of it. The library has two suggestion boxes: one is located near the copy machines; the other one is on-line under Gateway Options. Ask a staff member for assistance if you'd like to leave a message.

Next time look for news and books from the Youth Area of the Library.

The Wayne Library is located at 3737 S. Wayne Road. The phone number is 313-721-7832.

Turn back time to '72

Inkster residents James and DeArtiss Richardson recently celebrated their 25th anniversary with a renewal of their marriage vows and reception.

While compiling their silver anniversary program, the Richardsons found the following facts about the year they married, compared with today:

Music 1972 – Lean on Me, by Bill Winters; The Candy Man by Sammy Davis Jr. and The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face by Roberta Flack.

Music 1997 – Endless Love by Luther Vandross and Mariah Carey and I Believe in You and Me by Whitney Houston.

Entertainment 1972 – Best Film, The Godfather; Best Actor, Marlon Brando; Best Actress, Liza Minnelli, and Most Popular TV Shows, Here's Lucy, and All in the Family.

Entertainment 1997 – Best Film, The English Patient; Best Actor, Geoffrey Rush (Shine); Best Actress, Frances McDormand (Fargo), and Most Popular TV Shows, ER and NYPD Blue.

Price of Romance in 1972 – One dozen roses, $12; bottle of champagne, $8.75, and one pound box of chocolates, $4.99.

Price of Romance in 1997 – One dozen rose, $35; bottle of champagne, $27, and one pound box of chocolates, $6.99.

Economic Trends in 1972 – Average cost of car, $3,897; Minimum wage, $1.60 per hour; Average cost of a 3-bedroom home, $27,000, and Average annual income, $11,351.

Economic Trends in 1997 – Average cost of car, $13,000; Minimum wage, $4.50 per hour; Average cost of a 3-bedroom home, $83,000, and Average annual income is $27,997.

Too bad we can't have yesterday's prices on today's income!

Mercado continues

The Mexicantown-sponsored Mercado (market) is open every Sunday through Aug. 31 from noon to 6 p.m. – rain or shine.

The Folkloric Dance Extravaganza on Aug. 17 explore the folklore of Mexico with its own version of "Riverdance."

Day camp ends

Fun abounds in summer sessions

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

For kids from 6 to 12, the place to be this summer was the Summer Day Camp at the YWCA of Western Wayne.

"All of our summer programs have been very successful this year," said YWCA staff member Teresa Coleman. "Parents begin calling us in May – well before school is out – to find out what we have scheduled for the summer. The summer programs are very much needed. The kids enjoy them and the parents appreciate them."

There was a trip to Lake Erie Metropark, which has a wave pool; a visit to Tiger Stadium, trips to the Museum of African American History and the Detroit Science Center plus a visit to Belle Isle and Rolling Hills Park.

All of the fun ended Friday with an outdoor picnic, games, horseback rides and Summer the Clown for the youngsters' entertainment, according to director Mary Wooten.

"Vonda Hankerson of Tuns of Fun came here to entertain the kids and Gara Thornton of Canton brought Sundance and Black Satin for the kids to ride," said Wooton.

Staff member Latasha McKinney, Leah Taube, LaKisha Locust and Aquanetta Hendricks packed party treats in bags for the youngsters and handed them out during the Friday afternoon party.

The YWCA also sponsored a Very Important Persons (VIP) six-week day camp for mentally impaired and educable impaired children from 6 to 12.

"We do arts and crafts, cooking, a little bit of science plus field trips," said director Shahidah Muta. "We visited Belle Isle, Domino Farms, the Detroit Science Center and the water park."

"It was wonderful for the kids," said the mother of one of the participants, who attends Kettering School during the school year. "These kids need structure – something to do in the summer."

"Our service area is very large, we get kids from Detroit and Downriver in addition to local ones," Muta said.

The VIP program is funded substantially through a special grant from the Detroit-Wayne County Mental Health Board, and may be the only one in the area offering services to mentally and educable impaired, according to Muta.

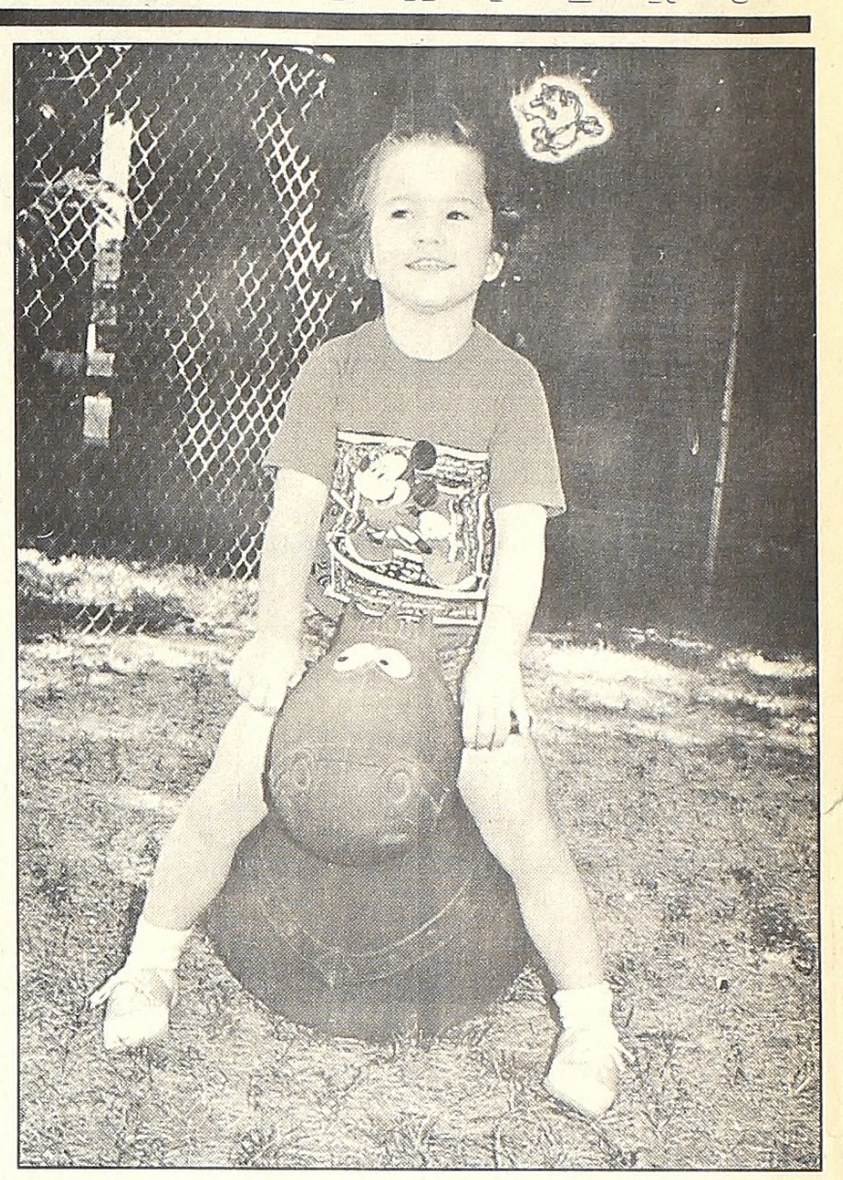

Phyllis Bonner, who heads the lunch program, had a crowd of youngsters around her waiting for the sandwiches, fruit, juice milk and cookies to be served.

Day Care Director Cheryl White's tots played in a fenced-in area and watched the older children's activities with interest.

"We're open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. for day care," White said. "There's 14 children enrolled, and they have outdoor play, art and pre-school activities during the day."

Summer Day Camp also is being conducted at the Dorsey Center in Westland with art, sports, crafts, swimming and field trips included. The free camp, directed by Laura Woreh, ends on Friday.

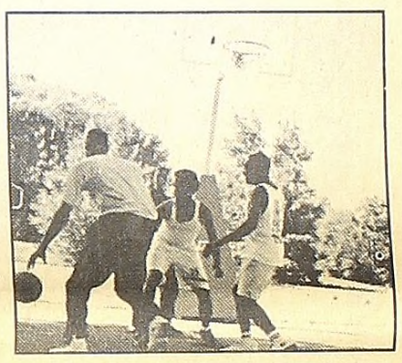

While the summer programs are winding down, the new fall schedule is being prepared for area youngsters.

YWCA gears up for award luncheon to honor women

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

One of the most important events of the year for the YWCA of Western Wayne County is the Women of Achievement Annual Awards Luncheon.

"It's a great opportunity for women from all over Wayne County to get together and get better acquainted," said Teresa Coleman, a YWCA staff member. "This year Debbie Dingell is the keynote speaker at the Nov. 7 luncheon."

Dingell is president of the General Motors Foundation, executive director National Corporate Activity of GMC and the wife of Congressman John Dingell.

Coleman, who has worked for the YWCA for 15 years, was a Y-Teen in her youth and "naturally" began her career with the association.

"The annual luncheon is a place to meet women face-to-face that you only know by telephone and to network with women from all over the county," she said.

"This is one of our biggest events of the year. We've sent out a mailing of 1,400 to women from all over the county," Coleman said. "It's a challenge for us to reach out to more and more women. I think we are much more diverse and have more outreach than we have had in past years."

During the luncheon, awards will be presented to six women who have distinguished themselves in the categories of art/communication, business/industry, government/law, professions, volunteer service and youth.

Steering committee members for the annual event are co-chairs Deborah Miller and Margaret Keyes-Howard, Lila Amen, Shereen Arraf, Judith Costigan, Viola Dougherty, Darlean Francis, Kathi Jones, Carolyn Kimbrough, Mary Kosin, Kay Neff, Margie Rose, Maryann Struman and Corinne Vincent, YWCA executive director.

Nominations are being sought in the six categories and the criteria is as follows:

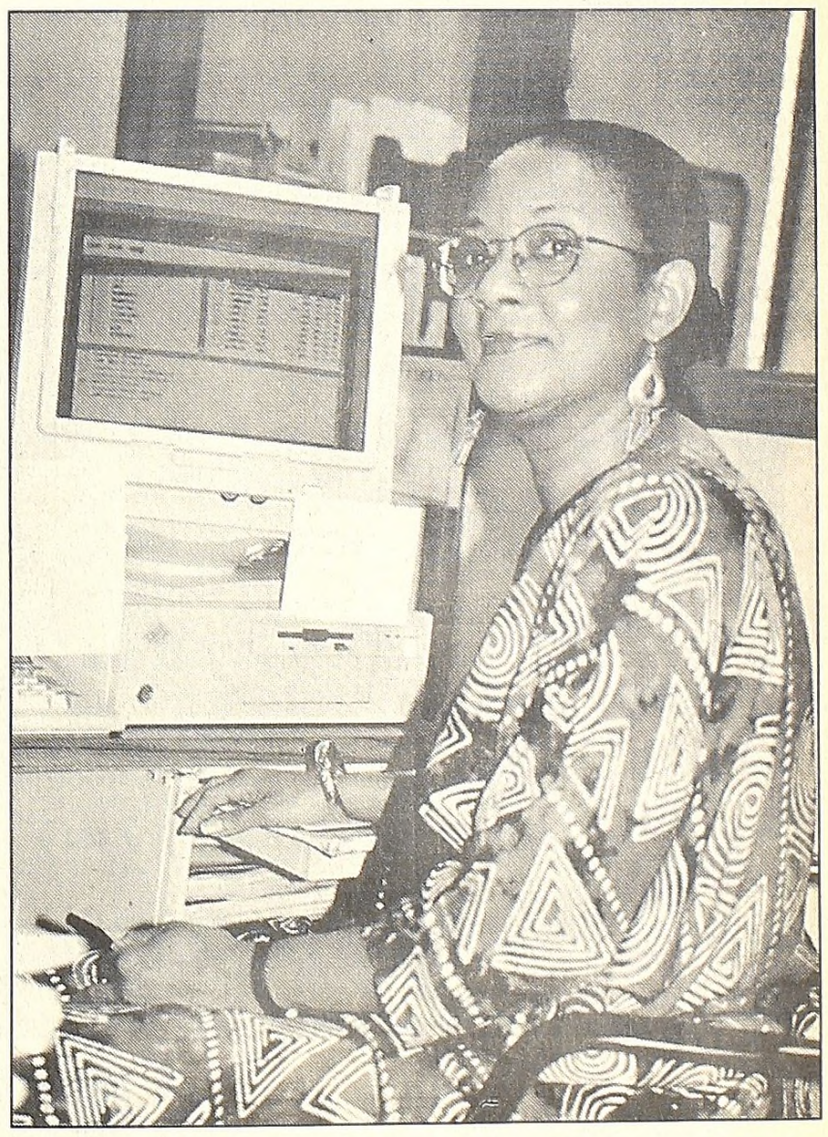

- Arts/communication – a woman who has excelled in the arts, media or public relations. Such fields include visual, literary and performing arts, journalism and television/radio.
- Business/industry – a woman who has exhibited outstanding abilities and accomplishments as an entrepreneur or at the technical/professional, management or executive level.
- Government/law – a woman who has provided exceptional leadership in government or the legal professional, either in an elected or career capacity.
- Professions – A woman who has demonstrated excellence and commitment as a professional in the field of education, health, human service, religion or research.
- Volunteer service – a woman who has made significant contributions to her community through her volunteer efforts.
- Young woman – A young woman of today (age 16-23) who has demonstrated leadership qualities, service to the community and a positive glimpse of tomorrow's woman.

Award winners for the past five years are:

- 1992, Peggy Wilson, arts; Janie Chuney, business; Donna McEachern, government; Wanda Harris-Foster, professions; Sister M. Francilene Van de Vyver, education, and Leyuna Shaw, teen achievement.
- 1993, Jacqueline Kaiser, arts; Marcia Anderson, business; Rep. Lyn Bankes, government; Dr. Callie Hester, education; Lynda Baker, volunteer, and De'Adre Dawkins, teen achievement.
- 1994, Joyce Hagelthorn, arts; Denise McHenry, business; Naomi James, government; Nancy Adadow Gray, professions; Theola Jones, volunteer service, and Jacquelyn Long, young woman.
- 1995, Leanna Hicks, arts; Linda Woolwine, business; Suzanne Hall, government; Dr. Shereen Arraf, professions; Gloria Rottman, volunteer service, and Angela DeAngelis, young woman
- 1995, Sharon Sims, arts; Agnes Harrison, business; Jennifer Granhold, government; Dr. Barbara Diamond, professions; Sharon Morris, volunteer service, and Jennifer Baron, young woman.

Nominations may be submitted to the YWCA of Western Wayne County, 26279 Michigan Ave., Inkster, Mich. 48184.

In addition, individuals can help to support the program by purchasing advertisements in the luncheon program. Information is available by calling 561-4110.

Westland woman makes pilgrimage to Bosnia

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

When Dorothy Disbrow of Westland returned from a pilgrimage to Bosnia, she was filled with wonder at the devotion of the local residents, inspired by those she met and sparked with a new sense of direction.

Her purpose was to visit the site where youngsters first saw a vision of Our Lady of Medjugorje and to pray for the healing of her daughter who suffers from life-threatening illness.

When she returned home and attended Mass at St. Mary's Church in Wayne, the priest asked the parishioners to pray earnestly.

"I so badly wanted to raise my hand, right then and there to enthusiastically agree -- even during Sunday Mass," said Dorothy.

"Having just returned from Medjugorje two weeks previously, this was the same message I had been receiving. This small, remote village of maybe 800 to 900 people is in Bosnia-Herzegovina (formerly Yugoslavia) -- pray, do penance, say rosaries and fast twice a week."

"The reason for my interest in this small place was that my daughter had just been diagnosed as seriously ill. A pilgrimage was planned to this place of miracles and graces. Mary, or Gospa, as the Croats call her, has been appearing weekly since 1981. Tales of spinning suns, a moon that slid sideways, and many heart-warming tales of rosaries turning gold (only while praying) had been told," said Dorothy.

She and her daughter worked out a plan to visit Medjugorje, one that they do not recommend for other travelers because tours are cheaper and do not involve unexpected expenses.

The two women left Metro Airport, flew to Dulles Airport in Washington, D.C., then on to Frankfurt, Germany, then to Zagreb and on to Split where they took a taxi to Medjurgorje.

"The whole trip took well over 20 hours, and my eyes did not close once," she said. "Originally, we planned to stay four weeks, but we realized the 16th anniversary (of the first vision) was coming, so we agreed to stay one more week," she said.

"In such a war-torn country, with so many craggy rocks, it had a rugged look and looked even poorer, than I had prepared myself for," Dorothy commented. "Though the country is poor and the people have suffered greatly, they are very devout."

She noted that the country side is beautiful with the azure-blue Adriatic Sea sending warm winds which help the produce, herbs and tobacco grow and nurtures the grapes for the wine.

"The Croats are very devout and family-oriented. Some Croats spoke English beautifully and they very patiently helped us to understand. Some taxi drivers were so helpful. However, there were a few people who had a dim view of Americans -- although our money was good," she said.

"St. James Church (the patron saint of the pilgrims) was the heart of the village. There were five Masses a day in as many languages," said Dorothy, who attended Mass in Croatian, French, German, Irish and Korean, but skipped the English Mass because she can always attend them at home. "Then, there were adorations -- something new for this life-long Catholic. This is a special quiet, peaceful time for truly devout people. Sometimes I saw peasant women, some wearing babuskas, lying in a prone position, not shoes; some went around the bases of their beloved statues on their knees, and there were so many men at so many Masses, and they prayed their rosary walking down the red clay roads."

Many of the women had lost their husbands in the long civil war, telling Dorothy "boom boom" to describe how they died.

"The women crocheted and sold lovely things. They had to feed their families somehow and there were not many jobs there," she said.

"Of the two mountains, the Hill of Apparitions in Podbrydo is about a one hour climb, which was a good starting point for we flatlanders. Big Cross (Mount Krizevac) is about a two-hour climb," she said. "We saw crippled people, the elderly, some barefoot and young ones climbing like mountain goats. There are even a group of dogs who help the lost though there were few of these. We called them Mary's God Squad."

Dorothy said she really felt the serenity there and felt it was safe to climb, day or night.

"How my daughter did it (climbed the mountain), I'll never know. She was not at her best," Dorothy said. "We have been so blessed by so many healing priests. Laying on of the hands can be powerful.

During their stay, the visionaries (the six who saw the vision in 1981) gathered one day and Dorothy hurried to bring her prayer list to them. She discovered that she had forgotten it at the hotel and said a prayer,"Help me to remember all of the names" as she hurried to the meeting place. During the visit with the visionaries, one brought the message from Gospa, which said "Don't worry if you've forgot somebody, I'll remember."

"I felt cold chills!" said Dorothy.

"While we did not receive the miracle that we wanted, we did come away totally enriched. Mary, or Gospa, makes sure God hears us and tells us to get the message out as she will not be appearing there much longer. So pray, do penance, say the rosary and fast twice a week."

Dorothy has not given up hope for her daughter's healing, saying, "sometimes, a miracle does not happen right away."

"My whole life is clearer and I have a new sense of direction," Dorthy Disbrow said. "And, I'm going back to Medjugorje."

Our Lady of Medjugorje appears to Bosnia children

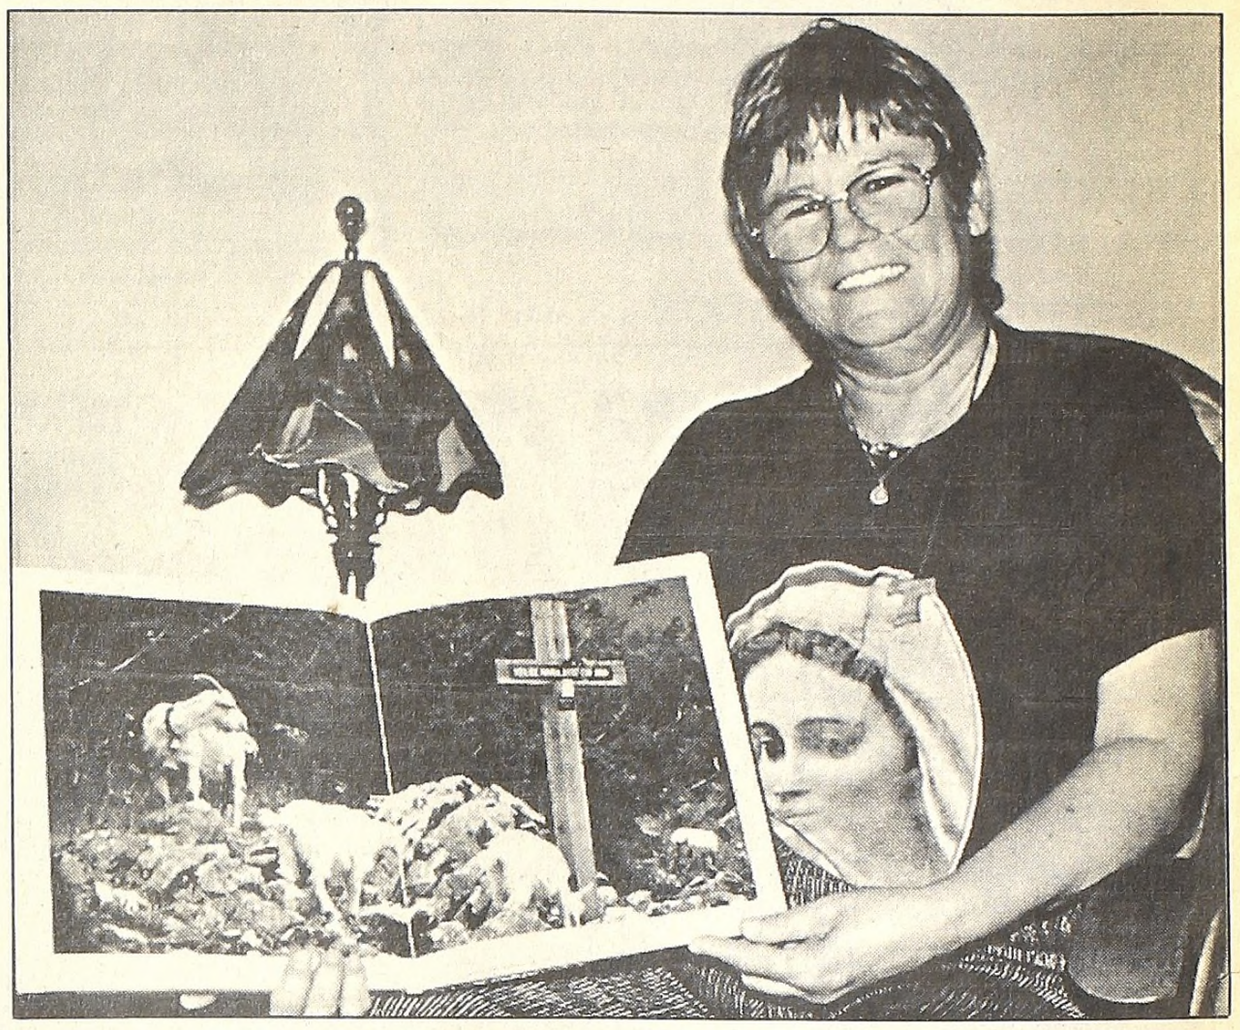

She wore a gray dress with a white veil, a crown of stars, blue eyes and rosy cheeks. And she was floating on a gray cloud...

This was how Our Lady of Medjugorje first appeared to six Bosnian children on June 24, 1981 on a hillside in Medjugorje. She identified herself as the Queen of Peace and charged the six children to tell the world that prayer, penitence and fasting could put an end to war and begin the spread of God's peace.

Despite police questioning and psychiatric interviews, the children's story remained strong and by June 29, 15,000 people came in hopes of seeing a sign from heaven. Communist authorities, alarmed at the resurgence of religion, cordoned off the hill, but the sighting did not stop.

The vision appeared to the children in their homes and later to them and their pastor in the tiny church of St. James, where she continues to appear to this day.

Since the first appearance, 18 million people have made the pilgrimage to Medjugorje. Some come for healing and comfort, and others seek a sign that God is near -- all are said to leave determined to find the inner peace that is promised in the name of Jesus.

Families host reunion

On July 6, the Broussard, Verdun and DeFils families celebrated a reunion at the Wyndham Gardens in Romulus.

These three families originated in Franklin, La.

The organizer and sponsor of the this event was Juanita Broussard Green of San Francisco and her husband, Curtis.

Family members came from Arizona, Colorado, Louisiana, California, Las Vegas, Nevada, and Detroit and Holland, Mich. Several generations of each family were present.

Lawrence Verdun Sr. and his wife, Jeanette were the honorees of this occasion. Mr. Verdun is the patriarch of the family and he and his wife were celebrating their 67th wedding anniversary. Lorenzo Broussard, a first cousin of Mr. Verdun, celebrated his birthday.

Family members arrived in Inkster several days before the dinner and enjoyed sightseeing in the city of Detroit, Saginaw and Canada.

Plaques and awards were presented to outstanding members of the family and gifts and prizes were given to each person present at the dinner.

Family members commended Mrs. Green for bringing the huge family celebration together, accomplishing "a gigantic task with grace and sweetness of spirit."

"Juanita, we salute you and love you," they said.

St. Joseph Church burns its mortgage

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Special Writer

Parishoners at St. Joseph Catholic Church participated in a mortgage burning on Aug. 3. In just six and a half years the congregation raised the $75,000 needed to pay off the mortgage.

Father Michael Anaya, assistant pastor, said, "Because of the generosity of the parishoners who put their whole heart into this we were able to pay off the mortgage quite early."

He said besides donations, money was raised by rummage, bake and Christmas sales. He commended Father Francisco Radecki, the pastor, as being the driving force behind this effort.

In 1988 Fr. Radecki was approached to help establish a traditional Catholic church west of Detroit. St. Joseph Catholic Church began in a rented conference room at Schoolcraft College in Livonia with 30 parishoners. Today there are about 200 parishoners.

On Feb. 27, 1989, St. Joseph's was incorporated in the state of Michigan.

In February 1991 they found their current home at Fourth and Sims Streets in Wayne. The church had been built in 1951, and since St. Joseph Church has occupied the site there have been many improvements made including an enlarged parking lot and a finished basement. The church itself has new stained glass windows.

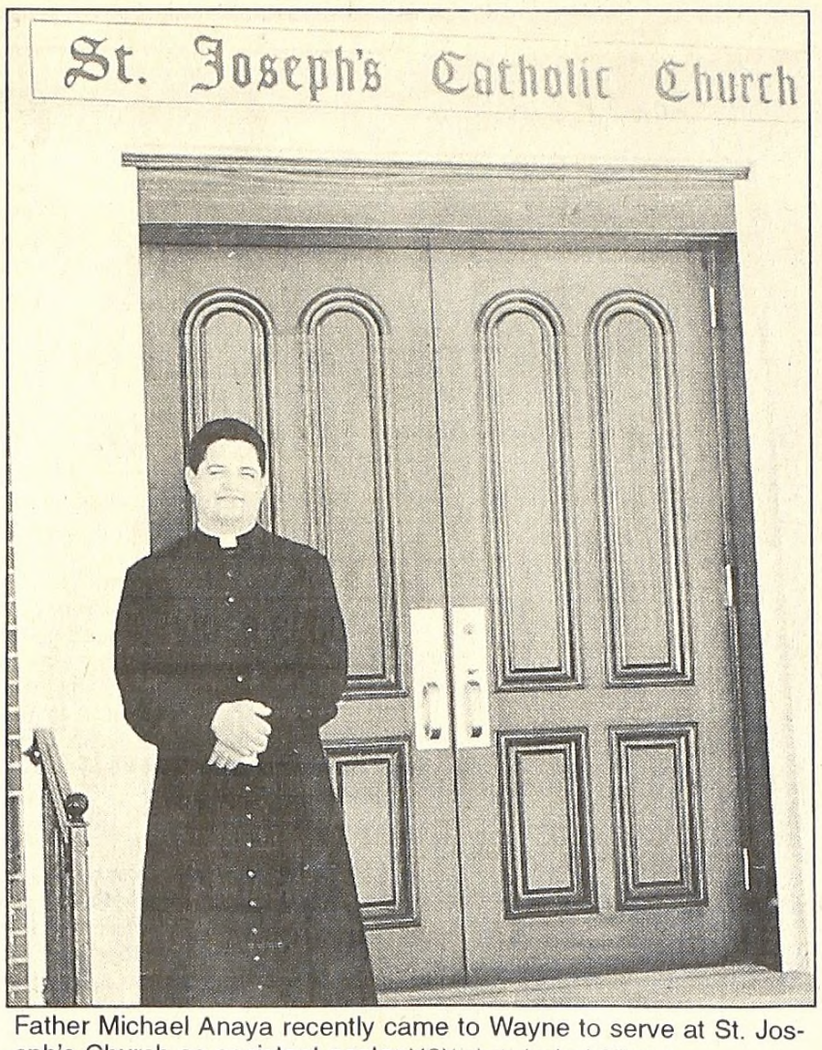

Fr. Radecki found items from churches arcund the country that were going to be demolished. He saved pews and the communion rail to use at St. Joseph.

"It's a beautiful little church," Fr. Anaya said.

Fr. Anaya is new to St. Joseph. He was ordained July 1, and St. Joseph is his first parish. He has visited Michigan twice before while attending dedication ceremonies at St. Joseph. He is from Colorado Springs where he attended a private Catholic high school. He is the first one in his family to become a priest.

"My parents are very proud and they were very supportive," he said.

Fr. Radecki, the pastor at St. Joseph has a brother, Fr. Dominic Radecki, who is a pastor at Queen of Angels Catholic Church in California. They recently burned their mortgage also.

Father Michael Anaya recently came to Wayne to serve at St. Joseph's Church as assistant pastor. MCN photo by Lori Gillespie

The Radicki brothers both are pastors of traditional Catholic churches. They conduct their Masses in Latin and practice teachings prior to Vatican II.

St. Joseph is located at 34437 Sims Avenue. Masses are at 8 and 10 a.m. on Sunday, 8 a.m. weekdays and 6 p.m. Monday and Friday.

Thanks a Million

WEEKLY SYNDICATED COLUMN by PERCY ROSS

Millionaire Percy Ross is known for his philanthropic work. He offers help and encouragement for those in need. He has earned a fortune and a wealth of knowledge during his lifetime and wants to share both. His motto: " He who gives while he lives... also knows where it goes. "

How To Heal A Child's Emotional Wounds

Dear Mr. Ross: How about helping me with something small which can make a profound impact? I counsel, soothe and nurture young children who have been sexually abused. I try so desperately to heal the emotional wounds and minimize the scarring left behind.

Budget cuts are my greatest enemy, next to the victimizers of these children. I can supply the love and understanding, but I need materials like stuffed animals and books, which these children can take with them. These items provide the child with an ongoing source of good feelings, long after they leave me. Mr. Ross, do you care to make a difference in the lives of little children whose slant on the world is that of being very cold and cruel?

Ms. T. N. ... Thrifty Nickel, Indianapolis, IN

Dear Ms. N.: The older I get, the more angry I get about child abuse–be it physical abuse or molestation. Take two children–one suffers from malnutrition, the other suffers from sexual abuse. While both children are greatly affected, at least with proper nutrition the malnourished child can reverse the damage done. However, the child who has been sexually abused, at best will learn to live with the damage done, but it will never completely go away.

I'm sending you a $500 teddy bear fund, in addition to 20 copies of my favorite children's book titled Princess Patty In Peace On Earth by author-illustrator Betsy Bradford. The story deals with self-esteem and sends an excellent message to children. If any of my other readers are interested in purchasing this book contact: Scope Publishing, 936 Pleasant View Court, Northfield, MN 55057 or call (507) 663-0517. It's an investment sure to become a family favorite.

As for the children who will receive the copies I'm sending, listen carefully to the words while hugging your teddy bear. The world is scary and it can be cruel, but it also can be loving and warm.

Dear Percy Ross: Time is ticking away fast, time on the meter of life that is. I'm 83 years old and arthritis has crippled my body so badly that it is an effort to get out of bed each day. Before the fated day arrives that I leave this world and am finally reunited with my late husband, I'd love to host a small party at a restaurant for my children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, nieces, nephews and a few close friends. In total, about 50 people.

I can cover the costs (just barely) but it will leave me virtually penniless. I figure I came into this world cold and naked and that's exactly how I intend to leave. However, I would like to look nice for my goodbye party by purchasing a new dress and maybe getting my hair done. I'm old but I'm still vain. Would $150 be asking too much? I'll get plenty of wear out of this dress because I also plan to be buried in it. Is it possible that you can put a smile on the face of this very old, tired woman, just one last time?

Mrs. W. D. ... Bargain Bulletin, Appleton, WI

Dear Mrs. D.: I can do so, but only if you graciously accept the $300 I'm sending. Why the extra? So you can purchase matching shoes and a handbag to accessorize your dress.

You see, sometimes Mrs. Ross helps me with my mail and she thought this would be a nice touch. Also, she suggested that when selecting your dress, do so on the basis of what you'll look good in at the party and not your casket. Party dresses are for the living and that's exactly what you'll be doing.

Pet problems prompt questions

By LILA WARNER
Guest Columnist

Guest Column

The following question was posed to the writer:

An old dog was given to us that was a "gas station" dog. The gas station had a new, younger dog so they didn't want the old one. He is a nice dog and does seem to be thankful for the home we have made for him. We are bothered by the calluses on his legs. I guess they must be from the cement floor of the gas station. The groomer says rub cold cream on them. Would the cold cream hurt him? What would you do?

Answer: If this old gentleman were my new family pet, I would have taken him to our family's vet before he even set foot in his new home. Why don't you take this old fellow to your family vet for an opinion about the calluses? The dog's doctor will advise you on the way to doctor the legs. With an ointment to rub in the hairless places and a soft place to lie in, this old dog should never take any more bad spots on elbows or legs. Your vet will tell you what is best for your new friend.

K-9 has been asked for information on "wolf-dogs" and how to train them. We, at Lil' Acre, refuse to have anything to do with animals crossed with a wild animal, or, one claimed to be 'tame' and loving.

For real information regarding these animals, write Wolf Park, Battle Ground, Indiana, 47290 or call us at (675) 567-2265. You can also fax us at (765) 567-4299.

My family must move to another state due to my promotion. My wife worries about the family pets, one is in his teens (dog, that is) and the rest are two and four years of age. We have heard change will make our animal family 'stressed out'. What is your opinion?

Answer: Call your pets' vet. Make an appointment and take the entire gang in to see the 'doggy doctor.' Explain to him the move that must be made. The vet will provide all the information you need. My dogs, and the cat, go with me on cross-country trips. It seems as long as they are with me, all is well. In other words, home is where the owner is!

Are you thinking about building a kennel? Will it be for a pet or two, or fostering a 'rescued' dog or a really good sized construction to house a commercial venture?

Free sets of kennel construction plans can be had for the asking! Yes, just call the Purina Pro Club at 810-851-3148.

Still not gratified, go to your local library and ask the nice person behind the desk where to locate books on kennels. You will be amazed at the available information in print. Everything from a dog house to huge breeding and/or boarding establishments.

If you plan to do more than a dog run and dog house, see the building and planning plus the animal control departments in your city, village or township for the regulations that may be in force. Best to check with them anyway 'cause you never know what the local laws are.

Do you treat your lawn with chemicals? Do you know if the chemical used on your lawn could trigger cancer of some type in either your pet..... or... you? Properly used, no. The trick is properly used. Most herbicides, fertilizers, and pesticides, won't damage your pet.

Any time something more than water is put on your lawn to promote it's health and well being, find out what the name of the item is and check with your vet to determine if it is safe for you and your pet to walk on, roll on, and maybe, just maybe, eat on, and eat off of.

If you are the one using these things, after you have determined it is safe, please store the product in an area where little hands or paws cannot get to them. Do not make the pet's bed in such an area, either.

After using these products, wash your hands for safety. If, at any time the pet acts differently after such products have been used, get the animal to the vet. It's life could depend on your swift actions.

Check in the front of your telephone book for the number of the poison control and keep it near the telephone for everybodys' good.

Abraham champions balanced budget in local visit

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

On Friday, U.S. Senator Spencer Abraham (R-Mich.) visited Westland to meet with local leaders and update them on highway funding and the balanced budget and tax cut legislation recently passed.

Abraham is on a tour of the state, with the goal of visiting each county. Because of the size of Wayne County, he has scheduled several meetings in the area.

"After 25-plus years of red ink, a bill was finally passed to balance the budget by 2002.

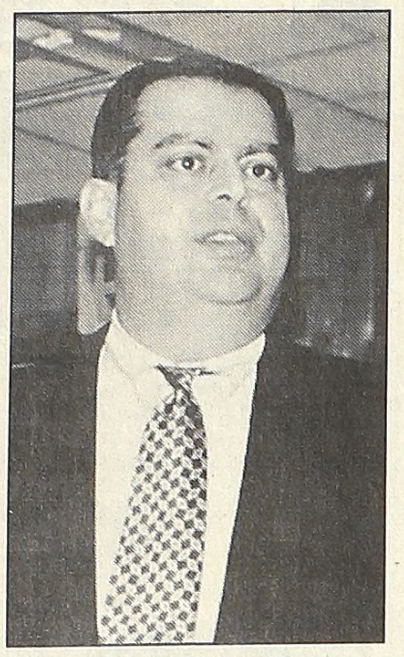

Abraham said the legislation is "imperfect, but ultimately successful" -- not what he had hoped to have adopted, but will end the deficit.

"The tax cut will allow taxpayers to keep more of what they have earned," Abraham said. "We will now have a reduction in the deficit at the same time as we have a cut in taxes."

Abraham described Michigan as a "donor" state in federal monies, meaning that the state sends more to Washington in taxes than is returned.

However, the senator had some good news for the state regarding transportation funds.

In the budget negotiations, Abraham urged the Republican Congressional leadership to change President Bill Clinton's 4.3 cents per gallon gas tax, passed in 1993, from being put into the General Fund to the more appropriate Highway Trust Fund. When contained in the General Fund, these gas tax dollars could be used for non-transportation spending. In the Highway Trust Fund,

Senator Spencer Abraham

however, these funds can only be used for transportation infrastructure and highway needs. This change, included in the federal budget at Abraham's request, could mean almost $200 million extra in federal road money for Michigan.

"This is big news for Michigan," he told the area leaders. "If the current formula is retained, it will mean $140 to $180 million for the state, and with a slight improvement in the formula, it will bring $200 million to the state.

"If a fair formula is adopted, the state would gain more revenue," the senator said. "The fairness issue goes back to the 1950s when the highway system was built, and revenue was not returned to the states dollar for dollar (some large states with small populations needed more assistance to build highways that more populous states).

"So, we had 29 donee states which received more dollars back than raised in taxes, and 21 states, which received 69 to 91 cents back out of every dollar of their gas taxes," Abraham said. "Obviously, the 29 states do not want to receive less and so they have blocked efforts to change the formula. However, now that the 'pie' is larger, they may be more willing to make adjustments."

Abraham said his goal is to improve the formula so that Michigan will receive its fair share of gasoline tax dollars.

The senator said some of the highway funds come with "strings attached," so that, for example, flower beds are being planted along roads with potholes. Some money has been earmarked to enhancements, but those funds cannot be used for repairs.

State Senator Loren Bennett (R-Canton) asked what is being done to reduce "unrealistic standards" in the revised Clean Air Act?

Bennett said he fears that high-paying jobs will leave the country if costs to implement the act's requirements are excessive.

"The problem with the new requirements is that it's a 'one size fits all' approach, instead of working on pollution problems with those that are creating them," he said, noting that John Dingell, the Downriver Democrat, is heading the battle for more realistic air standards.

"For example, one statistic that is used by proponents of the new air standards is that the number of asthma cases has risen each year for the past several years. Well, for the same number of years, air pollution has been reduced each year. These figures don't match. What we need is adequate science to back the claims," he said.

Implementation of the new air standards will hurt Michigan, he said.

In answer to a question from the audience on the possibility of inflation, Abraham said he does not see inflation as a current threat.

"The stock market is up and the deficit is down – both since I was elected," quipped Abraham.

"We are reducing the rate of government spending at the same time as taxes are being reduced." said the senator.

When asked if he favors downsizing the federal government, Abraham said he has been a leader in the drive to abolish the Department of Commerce.

"It shares it duties with 71 other agencies and departments. The Department of Commerce is like the hall closet of your house," Abraham said. "It is interesting that former secretaries of the department are on the band wagon to eliminate it.

BPW makes a difference

Donating socks and underwear to the girls residing at Girlstown, the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club took part in Make a Difference Day.

On Oct. 26, 1996, the BPW joined with 1,042,467 people nationwide in the USA Weekend's sixth annual event. Make a Difference Day is caring people reaching out to neighbors in need -- sharing food, shelter, labor, and love.

Throughout the nation, people gave food and clothing to the needy, collected toys for kids in hospitals, did city clean-up, planted trees, repaired homes, donated books to Hospice... just to name a few of the services rendered.

The seventh annual Make a Difference Day will be held Oct. 25, 1997. The BPW will again participate in this event with a special project for the day. The members invite your organization to join in the spirit of the day with a project of your own that will truly make a difference. Our fondest wish is that many organizations will catch this spirit, act upon it, and make Belleville a Make a Difference city.

For more information, contact the Points of Light Foundation Make a Difference Day hotline at 1-800-416-3824.

Champs edge nemesis in thrilling finale

Prestige has been a thorn in Larry Quartuccio's side.

His Jimmies/Easton softball players had a better word that side, but yielded to their manager's wishes when he said he preferred to use the traditional word side to the improper (for a community newspaper) use of the word b---.

Prestige had, after all, knocked the defending champ on its back recently to win the Patrolman Len Anderson Softball Tournament title a couple of weeks ago. They also had humbled the local slo-pitch powerhouse earlier this year.

And, on Saturday, Prestige appeared it would do it again. The Sterling Heights team was well on its way to a victory at the USSSA Class A state championship when Westland apparently decided that "enough is enough" and came back to jolt their nemesis, 22-21, en route to the Michigan title.

"This was probably our best team effort this year," said Quartuccio, who was all smiles after the victory. "We played terrific defense and the hitting was there. Our bench came up with the support when we needed it the most.

"Now we just have to stay focused and play good ball in Dallas."

Westland will travel to Dallas over the Labor Day weekend to compete in the World Series of the United State Slow-pitch Softball Association's championship. More than 30 teams, who have won qualifying tournaments, have been invited to participate in the Series.

The coveted state title is the first for Jimmies/Easton, but it is the second time that Quartuccio has won it as a manager.

The champs survived a tough series and surfaced with an untainted record.

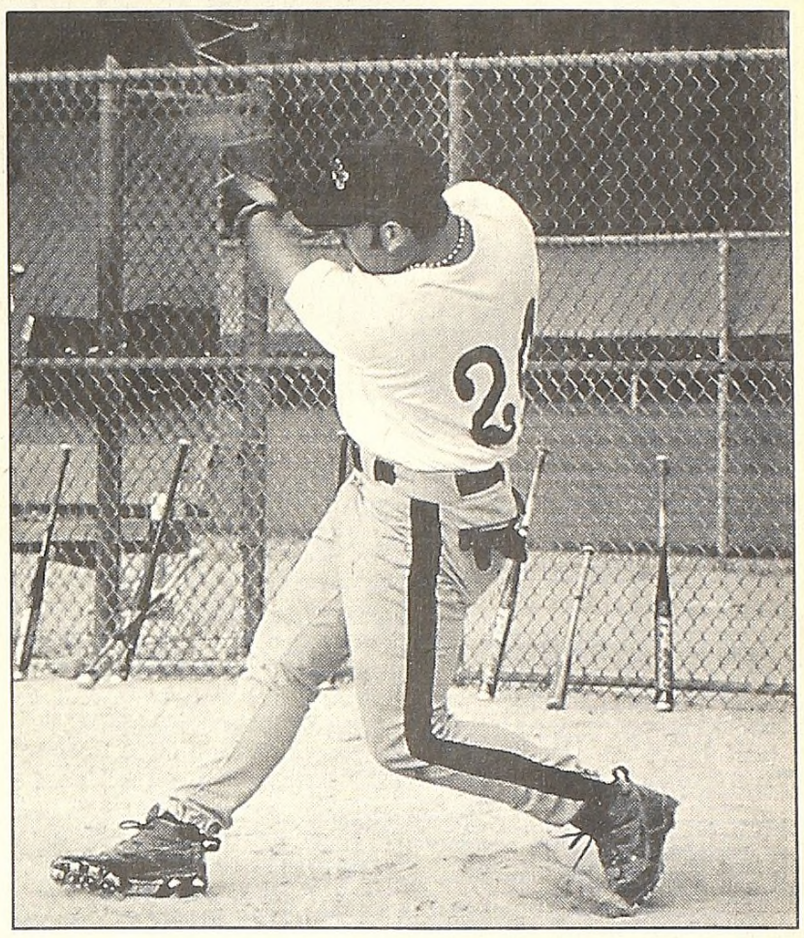

"It's always good to end the regular season on a high note with these big victories," said Quartuccio afterwards.

At the advent of the state tournament, Westland was ranked fourth in the nation. They crossed paths with Prestige in the series, and Prestige again proved a worthy adversary.

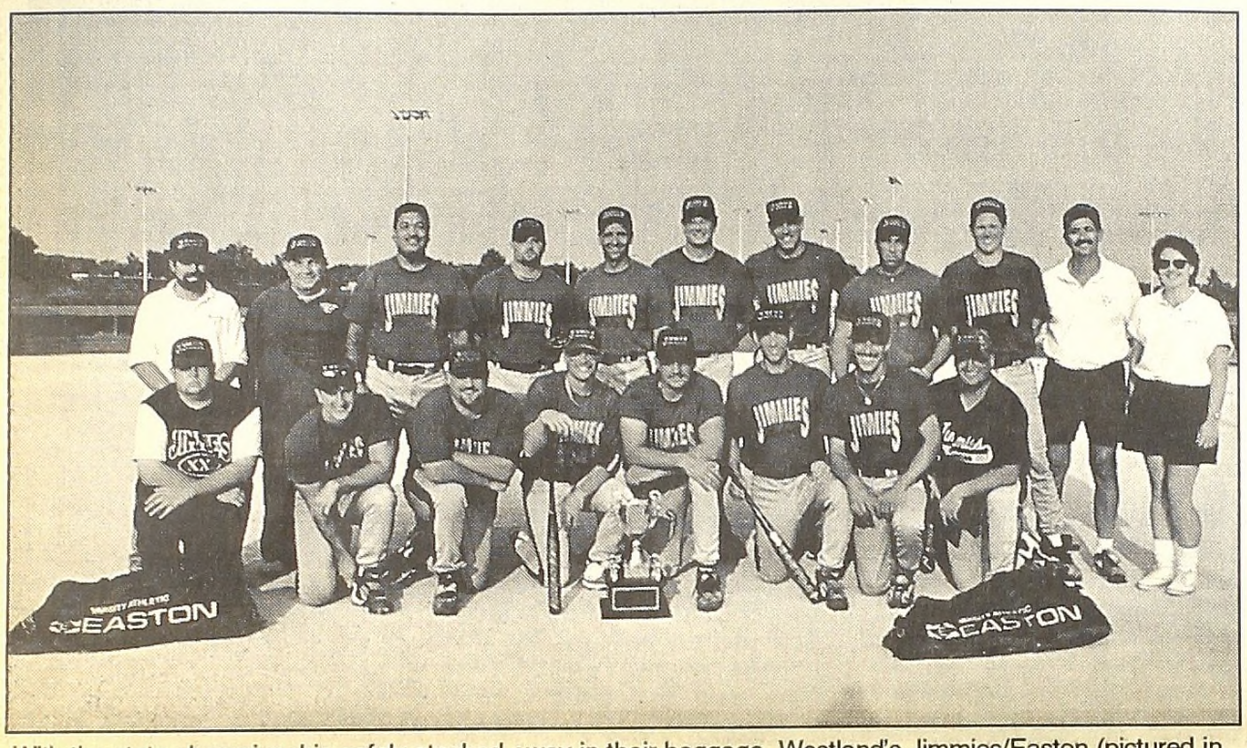

In fact, in the bottom of the fifth inning, Prestige had a 15-13 lead over their arch-rivals. By the end of the sixth inning, the teams were deadlocked at 19.

Then, in the top of the seventh, Jimmies/Easton broke the tie with a three-run rally and managed to hold Prestige to two runs for the all- important victory. Westland's third baseman, Ruben Gonzales, came through at the plate with

Dolphins honor top swimmers

It was awards night for the Wayne Parks & Recreation-sponsored Dolphin Swim Club and several members of the organization came away with special trophies after the program staged at the Wayne Community Center.

Some 90 swimmers and their families enjoyed the post-season activities which included awards presentation, slide show, dancing and a pot-luck dinner.

The Dolphins picked Colin Bonathan as their Most Improved Swimmer in the 6 and under age group. Awards in the same category for the 7-8 year olds was shared by Logan Bonathan and Chelsea Smith; Paul Moiser and Emily Green, 9-10 and Eric Moro and Nicole Richardson in the 11-12 age group.

The award also went to Justin Smoes and Heather Dobrowolski, ages 13- 14, and finally to Nathan Wensko and Kara Pardee 15-18 age group.

Other awards, including the titles of Marathon Swim Champions were presented to Colin Bonathan, 6 and under; Logan Bonathan and Jane Schrimer, 7-8; Paul Moiser and Jennifer Cecil, 9-10; Jeff Ballard and Elizabeth Vineyard, 11-12; Jeff Anderson and Krissy Farago, 13-14; and Justin Ballard and Alana Tucker 15-18.

Dolphin coaches told the huge gathering that they considered the season "a huge success", and "many swimmers enjoyed a great experience participating swimming with the club."

Dolphin officials also noted that the season will resume in the fall, and that they are seeking new members. Times and dates for registration will be published in the local newspaper, they announced.

WYAA varsity Comets, Meteors seek players

Officials for the Westland Youth Athletic Association said this week that they are seeking players who can play football at the varsity level in the Western Suburban Football League.

Players must be in the 13-14 age group and must not weigh more than 155 pounds with football pads.

If a player meets the qualification, he is urged to contact Keith DeMolay, who is a member of the Comets' coaching staff. DeMolay may be reached at 722-1251.

If the player wishes to join the Meteors'. unit, he should call Dale Giacchina at 722-7564.

Each organization fields three units - freshmen, junior varsity and varsity.

The season will begin the weekend of Sept. 5.

The Comets are scheduled to play at noon on Sept. 6 against the Braves in Ypsilanti in their opener, while the Meteors begin the season a day later at home (Wayne Memorial). They drew the Rockets of Farmington for their inaugural test.

Attention, athletic directors

Local athletic directors, or their secretaries, attention.

Now that the 1997 high school fall sports season has officially began (and, yes, good luck to your teams), the Michigan Community Newspapers' Sports Staff is again looking forward to covering the teams and games.

But, before the MCN sends its reporters and photographers to the dream fields and basketball courts, staffers will need sports schedules, coaches' names and telephone numbers, and any other pertinent information that may help us provide you and the readers with in-depth coverage.

We'll need schedules from the following schools: Wayne Memorial, Plymouth-Salem, Plymouth-Canton, Belleville, Romulus, and Robichaud. Westland John Glenn and Inkster High have already submitted their schedules and we thank them.

Please mail schedules to: Michigan Community Newspapers, C/O Sports Department, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, Mich. 48184.

Heartbreaker

Renegades stun Twisters, 20-18

For the second time in three weeks, the Twisters had to stomach a heartbreaking defeat.

The semi-pro football team came up empty handed again as the Detroit Renegades stunned the Twisters 20-18 in their second straight setback, their third in four starts this season.

The Twisters will return to the gridiron on Aug. 18 against the Motor City Cougars. The two teams will clash 8 p.m. at the Downriver Community Conference Center Stadium, located at 15100 Northline Road in Southgate.

Admission is $4 for adults and $2 for students.

The Twisters drew blood first against the Renegades thanks to the defense which partially blocked a Renegade punt deep in their own territory. Taking over at the enemy's 45 yard line, Pat Bowie, former Plymouth-Salem standout capped a 44-yard drive with a one-yard TD plunge.

The Twisters' conversion attempt sailed wide of the uprights, leaving them with a 6-0 lead.

Within a minute, the Renegades struck. After the ensuing kickoff, the Renegades executed a controversial pass play that carried them 29 yards and within 14 yards of the Twisters' goal line.

It was left to the Renegades QB and a wide-open receiver to complete the scoring pass play. A two-point conversion gave the Renegades a 8-6 lead.

Defense took over and it wasn't until the second half that the scoreboard changed. It tilted in the Twisters' favor as quarterback Brian Kutch connected on a seven-yard strike to tight end Aaron Brothers who was also standing all alone in the end zone.

The conversion team again had problems communicating and the Twisters missed their opportunity to score. But they enjoyed a brief and narrow lead, 12-8.

Early in the fourth, the Renegades continued the rally with a 22-yard touchdown pass that put them on top 14-12 after the point-after failed.

The Twisters made a final pitch for the victory midway in the fourth quarter as Scott Harris came up with a big interception that was seven-yards shy of the Renegade end zone. The Renegade defense dug in despite Bowie, Kutch and Darius Williams' efforts, and it was Bowie who eventually broke through the opponent's defensive net and scrambled over the goal line to give the Twisters the lead for the third time in this game.

He really can can free throws

Adam Zimmerman really can can free throws.

The 13-year-old cager, playing for the MBA All-Stars out of Garden City, proved his free throw shooting ability recently in Florida where he represented his team as its free throw shooter during the Youth Basketball Of America Association's annual championships.

After hitting on nine of his first 10 shots, Zimmerman finished in a two-way tie for the runners-up trophy and was then invited to participate in a "sudden death" playoff where he managed to beat his rival for the second-place trophy.

Adam will be a freshman at Wayne Memorial this fall where he plans to continue his basketball career.

Robichaud wrestlers to hold reunion

Former Robichaud High wrestlers are planning a reunion, according to one of the ex-coaches who helped build the program at the Westwood Community School District high school.

Sam Ellis, who is presently the head wrestling coach at Inkster High, said Tuesday night that former grapplers plan to meet at 10 a.m. on Aug. 23. for a picnic in the Lower Huron Metro Park.

Athletes who wish further information may contact Terry Watson, at 313-562-6802 or John Lucas, at 517-265-7964.

Ageless golf wonders

The photo of ageless golf wonder Bill Hawley (photo above, center) and noted area attorney Steven Bullock (at right) and Bill Marciniak was inadvertently transposed last week. Hawley placed first in the First Flight, Wayne, at the 1997 City Championships staged at the Woodlands of Van Buren when he shot a 171, beating Marciniak for the first-place trophy by one stroke. Bullock, who was third in the flight, carded a 175 for the two-day, 36-hole tournament. The Sports Staff regrets the error and any inconvenience it may have caused. Photo by Jerry Mendoza

250 to compete

Golfers seek junior tourney title

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Before they go back to school next week, local and area junior golfers - 250 strong - will compete in the 15th annual Burger King Restaurants' championships.

The tournament will be staged Friday at the Westland Municipal Golf Course on Merriman Road.

The field, consisting of boys and girls, is made up of golfers, ages 11 through 16 who will be playing nine-holes.

"This (tournament) has attracted a lot of young golfers over the years, some of whom have gone on to become outstanding amateur golfers," said John DeBono, who owns the Burger King franchises at Merriman Road and Cherry Hill and Wayne Road and Cherry Hill. "We are very happy to be the sponsors of this event again this year."

Golfers will compete in assigned flights, according to the following age groups: 11-12; 13-14 and 15-16. The top two finishers in each of the flights will be awarded trophies.

There is a special trophy for the medalist (low scorer) of the entire field.

To register, golfers must fill our an entry blank and submit it before tee time 9 a.m. on Friday. There is a $6 registration fee which covers greens' fees.

The Westland Municipal Golf Course is located on 500 South Merriman Road, in Westland.

In the meantime, two Wayne golfers led the Women's Suburban Golf Association pack over the weekend at the Glenhurst Golf Course.

Mary Allen turned in a 67, which earned her the low net honors in the First Flight. In the same flight, Birmingham's Pat Meyers scored the low gross after checking in with an 83 for the afternoon.

Wayne's Pat Henke, coming off of a hole-in-one the previous week, continued to look impressive in the second flight where her 94 stood up as the low gross. Dearborn's Skip Gardner checked in with a 61 for the low net honors in that flight.

The point-after was blocked, turning the score to 18-14 Twisters in the waning minutes of the battle.

The Twisters managed to hold until five minutes to the final whistle. They took possession on their own 34 and, on a third and eight situation, and a pass into the left flats was deflected by the Renegade defense and they turned the turnover into the winning touchdown.

a perfect four-for-four and teammate Tom Lengyl drilled two homers and chipped in with five runs batted in. Ex-John Glenn slugger, John Sampson also collected three hits in four trips and counted five RBIs before the clouds cleared.

In another crucial game, against the Flint Memorial Park Raiders, Scott Hille laced five hits in six appearances and single-handedly accounted for eight RBIs. Gonzales batted four for five with three runs batted in as the Westlanders enjoyed a 31-15 victory over the Raiders.

In another close one, Jimmies/Easton turned back - but just barely - Journeymen/Noels Service, a team out of Toledo, 27-25, on the strength of Jason Riggs and Ruben Gonzales' outstanding performances at the plate where each cashed in four hits in five trips for nine RBIs. Sampson came through with three hits and added five RIBs.

Leading off in the first game, Belleville's Scott Janack hammered five (for five) hits and also had 5 RBIs. Winning pitcher Rog Siedlik helped his own cause with three hits and an equal number of runs batted in.

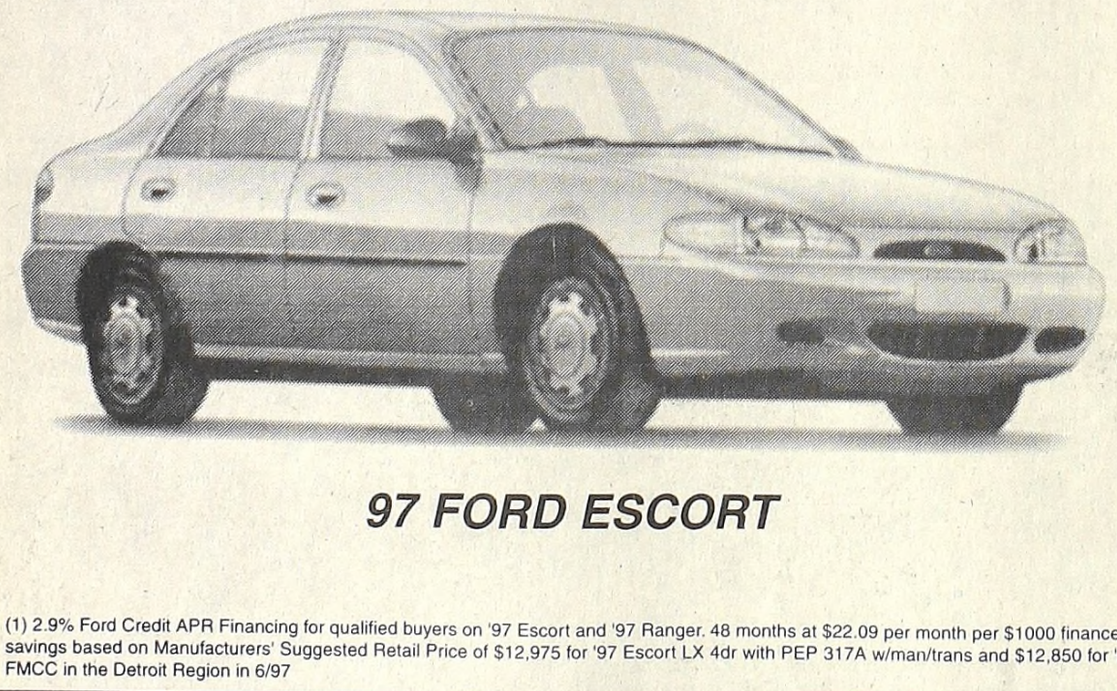

Jimmies managed to eke out a 21-19 victory over an equally stubborn Borgman Ford of Grand Rapids.

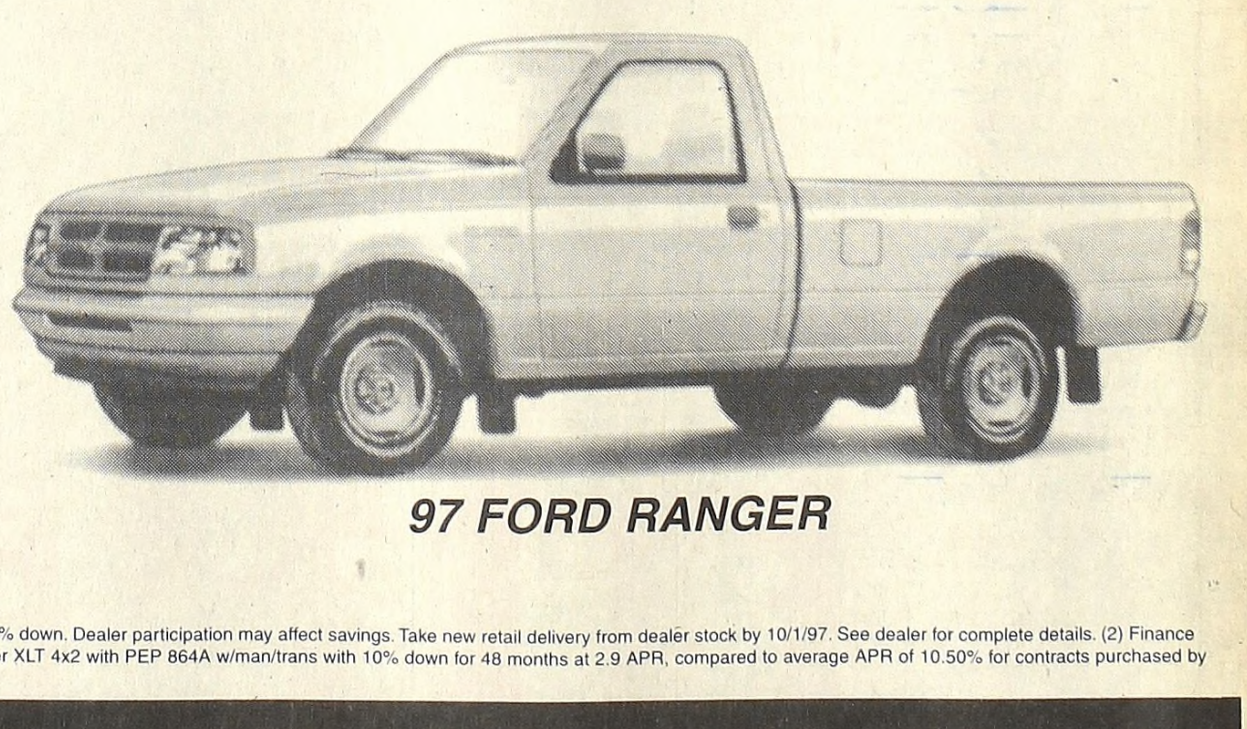

Tigers take WYAA title

With a near-perfect 13-1 overall record, the Tigers captured the 1997 Westland Athletic Association's Pony Express League title. The league consists of players in the 13-14 age bracket. The Tigers managed to whip teams from Wayne, Redford Township, Garden City and from Westland to claim the championship. The Tiger roster included Brian Davis (front row, from left), Dustin Murphy, Tom Riney, Justin Rogers, Scott Dunahoo and Bill Marra; second row are Joe Copeland, Ryan Ybarra, Scott King, Joe Barter, and Pat Barter; third row are coach Bill Marra, manager Al Barter and coach Bob Ybarra. Personality profile
Patt Hartford heads Wheelfest Committee

By SHARON POPEK
MCN Special Writer

"Come down and spend Festival weekend with us" invites Patt Hartford who's serving as chairperson of the Wheelfest this year.

Patt's lived in Wayne since 1963 when she was a junior in High School. After her marriage she moved to her present home on Chestnut Street where she's raised her family. That includes Diana Bently, 31, of Belleville, Ilona Zigman, 29 of Reed City, Don Hartford, 27 of Wayne and Derek Hartford, 23, who's just graduated from Michigan State University. She's also the proud grandma of Allison who's 13 months.

Patt's parents are Dennis and Crissy Hays.

School activities consumed much of Patt's time while her children were growing up. They included serving as PTA officer, room mother and lunch mother at Washington School. She also worked on school district politics and was involved with the Wayne Jaycees.

Following a divorce five years ago, Patt wanted to get involved in "something new... I wanted to meet some new people and have some new projects". This is her fifth year on the City of Wayne Festival Commission. She views the annual festival titled "Wheelfest" as a "gift to the people who attend and participate".

Patt has met a lot of people from the commission members to all those who attend the annual event. "Membership on the commission has changed but they are all there for the right reasons. We all want to throw a great party for the people in Wayne".

This is the hardest working commission or committee in the city, according to many.

"I've been part of it for 19 years, myself, and know that next week we will spend most of it in Goudy Park," she said.

Patt's come up with something new this year. It's a Great Pizza Challenge which features the Pizza Dude of Wayne and Westland tossing against our own Gino (Ted Gagnon). Prizes will be given for the most entertaining, highest toss and biggest. Also the two most experts will teach others in the audience to toss and make-up a team. Doesn't that sound like fun?

"I'm serving on Pam Dobrowolski's campaign for reelection as she's a good friend," said Patt, who added that she would not like to get involved in politics herself. She does run a golf league at Bushwoods with five water holes out of nine. In fact, it sounded like so much fun I may join them after the festival.

For the past three and a half years Patt has been dating Ron (Corky) Hays, Recreation Department maintenance supervisor. He also has a young granddaughter, Danielle, who is 17 months.

Wheelfest '97 begins with the Miss Wayne and Be a Star Contest on Thursday evening, Aug. 21. The parade takes place on Friday, Aug. 22 with activities scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Come on down and enjoy what Patt and the rest of us Festival Commissioners have planned for this year.

Michigan author goes on 12-city publicity tour with second book

By Kurt A. Krug
Special writer

With the publication of her first book and her second book to be published within the coming months, local author Sharony Green is estatic.

"I feel very blessed," said Green, 30, who lives in the Detroit area, as she signed copies of her book, Cuttin' the Rug Under the Moonlit Sky: Stories and Drawings About a Bunch of Women Named Mae, Wednesday night at Borders Books & Music in Dearborn. Metro Detroit is the first of the 12 cities, including New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles, Green will be promoting her book.

The title has a lot of personal significance for Green. "Cuttin' the Rug" was a phrase her great-grandmother used when Green and her siblings would dance at her house. It was her only way of cheering us on, she said.

All the characters in the book are named Mae. There are plenty of women in Green's family named Mae and to her, the name Mae signifies strength and hope. In the 45 vignettes or "written sketches," the Maes represent a broad spectrum of women. Some are young, others old. Some are fictional, others are real. Some live at the turn-of-the century, some live in modern times. In addition to writing the book, Green also illustrated it, even though she has had no formal art training since elementary school.

"(The Maes) embody similar qualities---strength and vision. They all have a story to be told, whether it's bittersweet or uplifting. Some have broken dreams and bad romances, but they're surviving. Not only are they surviving, but they're striving.

"My main message is that you can't stereotype a Mae, just like you can't stereotype a black woman. You have to get rid of all stereotypes of black women and see them as people," said Green. "People connect with the ideas of strength and spunk in women; that transcends race. You don't have to be a Mae to have Mae qualities".

Of the 45 Maes, Green's favorite Mae is Freda Mae. She said Freda Mae is a driven woman, who can't sit still and does things her own way. "She's probably the person I would've been if I hadn't jumped into journalism so fast."

Green, who has a degree in journalism and political science from the University of Miami and has worked at the Miami Herald and Detroit Free Press, got the idea for the book at the journalism conference five years ago. She and a friend were talking about the Maes in their families. This gave her the impetus to start work on the book, which originally began as illustrations.

Green was originally working on a biography of her father-in-law, jazz guitarist Grant Green, but spent much of her time writing and drawing Mae vignettes. Her husband told her to send it to a publisher. Her agent sold it in three weeks.

"It was very quick. That's unheard of for a first book... After reading the book, whenever my editor walks down the streets of Manhattan and sees a black woman, he wonders what her Mae-story is," she said.

Incidentally, the biography on her father-in-law has been completed and her agent recently found a publisher. There is no release date at this time. Green said she is working on a third book. "The next book'll probably be really similar to the Mae book, but it won't be a bunch of women named Mae. Men are included and I see ties to the times we're living in now--the eye of a new millennium."

YAF Museum presents 1960s USO show

The Yankee Air Force Museum is presenting a 1960s Vietnam USO Show and Dance.

Those in attendance can dance the night away to the music of the Larados, best known for the song, Just Like Romeo and Juliet. Ron T., a radio personality from WOMC 104.3 FM will take guests back in time as the master of ceremonies.

The show kicks off at 7 p.m. Aug. 23. Food and beverages, along with door prizes will be available at the event, which is taking place at the Willow Run Airport in Belleville. A donated, historical flight on a P51 Mustang Fighter will go to the highest bidder.

Advance tickets are available for $10, or can purchased for $12 at the door.

Telethon has comedy, music, drama plus heart

> We've got a terrific lineup from every area of show business, and many more favorites will sign up before the show airs.
> - Jerry Lewis

Jerry Seinfeld, Paul Rodriguez, Elaine Boosler and many more hot young comics are scheduled to appear on the Jerry Lewis MDA Labor Day Telethon, Aug. 31-Sept. 1. They'll be joined by many stars from television, film, music, sports, stage and the circus arena in 21-1/2 hours of nonstop entertainment.

Originating from CBS Television City in Hollywood with live and taped segments from New York, Chicago, Minneapolis, and more, the nation's best-known live television fund-raiser offers unsurpassed variety and vital information about MDA's fight against 40 neuromuscular diseases. The Telethon begins at 9 p.m. Aug 31, and national and local segments will spotlight people affected by muscle wasting disorders through taped profiles and personal appeals.

We're going to pull out all the stops to keep our more than 75 million viewers focused on our lifesaving message," said Jerry Lewis, MDA's National Chairman and star of the Telethon. "I'm always deeply moved by the number of great performers volunteering to help "my kids" Labor Day weekend, and by America's tremendous response to help families affected by progressive neuromuscular diseases."

Lewis, taking leave from his starring role in the London stage production of Damn Yankees for his 32nd annual Labor Day broadcast for MDA, adds, "We've got a terrific lineup from every area of show business, and many more favorites will sign up before the show airs."

This Telethon marks an important anniversary: the 30th year in which Ed McMahon will serve as Telethon anchor. Lewis and McMahon will be joined in Hollywood by four co-hosts: nationally syndicated and Emmy- winning talk show host Jerry Springer, Entertainment Tonight correspondent Jann Carl, and comedians Max Alexander and Norm Crosby.

Joining Jerry Lewis, Jerry Seinfeld and Paul Rodriguez in the Telethon laugh fest are comedians Chuck Booms, Carrot Top, Diane Ford, Mal Z. Lawrence, Sarge, Rip Taylor and Bob Zany. A special segment from the Improv Comedy Club will feature Shelly Berman, Kathy Buckley, Margaret Cho, Bill Dana, Harvey Korman, Cathy Ladman and Steve Marmel.

In the realm of music, Telethon viewers will be able to enjoy everything from special VH-1 segments featuring top names in popular music to show tunes from Brittany Kissinger, Broadway's Annie, the classical violin of Rachel Barton and barbershop harmonies by Expanded Sound. Other musical performers on tap include: Alabama, Bon Jovi, Wynton Marsalis, Kenny Chesney, Willie Chirino, Charo, The Doobie Brothers, Crystal Gayle, Mannheim Steamroller, Gary Morris, Nana Mouskouri, Ricky Skaggs and Leslie Uggams.

Jerry Lewis

Elaine Boosler

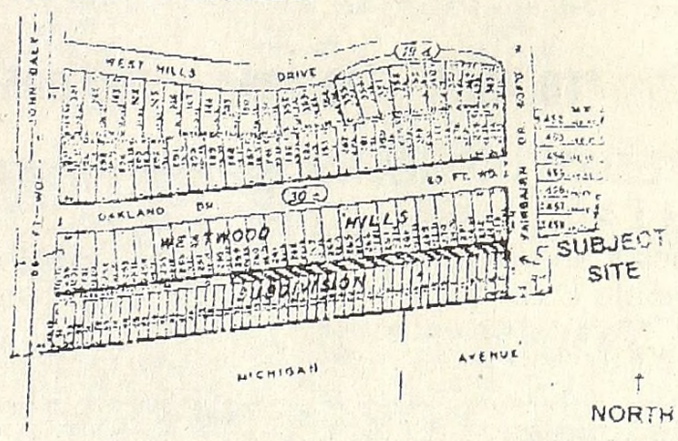

Ann-Margaret, whose husband, Roger Smith, has myasthenia gravis, one of the diseases covered by MDA, is slated to bring a message about MDA programs. Other actors who will make special appeals include Tony Danza, Dennis Farina and Michael Greyeyes. In a particularly poignant segment, beloved comedic actor Tom Poston and his wife, Kay, will join Lewis to describe their battle with another disease covered by MDA, amyotrophics lateral sclerosis (ALS or Lou Gehrig's disease). The neurodegenerative disease, which affects Kay, leads to serve disability and usually proves fatal in a few years.

The sports world will be represented by baseball star Brett Butler, welter-weight boxing champion Oscar De La Hoya, and Olympic gold medal gymnasts Bart Conner and Nadia Comaneci.

Food drive continues

A truck load of food, clothes, toiletries and paper goods was delivered to victims of the July 3 story on Wednesday to the People's Community Tornado Relief Fund in Hamtramck.

The food drive was initiated by Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara and will continue with several drop-up sites open, including the Wayne Fire Station, 3300 South Wayne Road.

"The relief effort is far from over. We have to make sure people don't run out of food. they need us now more than ever," said McNamara. "Storm victims need to know they aren't forgotten."

People who want to make cash contributions can do so by writing a check or money order payable to the People's Community service Tornado Relief Fund, a non-profit organization set up by religious groups in Hamtramck.

Mercedes SLK features power folding steel hardtop

By KAREN STRONSKI
MCN Automotive Writer

Mercedes recently came out with a new sports car. And what a sports car it is! It's an early 1998 model that has a starting price of $39,700. The SLK as it is known, has one major attraction. This most talked-about feature is its power folding steel hardtop, which goes from a normal top to a convertible with just the touch of a button.

The roof of the SLK is hinged to retract into the trunk. However, the trunk lid has a double hinged mechanism, opening in the usual way for cargo, but also tilting up at the rear whenever the top is raised or lowered. What a neat idea. You can go from hardtop to convertible in less than 30 seconds.

While driving this sport/luxury coupe, you can not believe all of the heads that this car turns. I felt like a princess on prom night in this one. I'm sure that the color had a lot to do with all of the looks though. It was a bright Penske yellow. You couldn't miss this car going down the road.

The rear-drive SLK uses a supercharged 2.3 liter 4-cylinder engine with dual overhead camshafts and 191 horsepower. Premium fuel is mandatory. The only transmission available is a 5-speed automatic with a his and hers shifter. For a four cylinder, this car was surprisingly quick. With just the touch of a toe from a dead stop at a traffic light, this little number got out of the gate like a jack rabbit on steroids.

Mercedes SLK comes with dual front and side airbags (the latter mounted in the doors) for added safety. It also has anti-lock brakes and a sensor in the passengers seat that deactivates the airbag when a special Mercedes child seat is installed. However, I would not recommend putting an infant in this car. It's simply too small, and I can't imagine it being all that safe for a small child.

This Benz also comes with a functional rollbar behind each seat but, with the top up it really impedes your vision. The blind spots in this car are bad. You can't see anything using your driver's side mirror, and if you turn around to look, you still can't see because of the high rollbars.

Additional standard equipment includes automatic slip regulation traction control, 16-inch polished alloy wheels, performance tires that are slightly wider in the rear, two-tone leather seats, and power everything. You can even purchase a phone that is already installed in your new vehicle, but it comes with a high price.

The handling and suspension in this Mercedes are great, I could not believe just how well it handled. The transmission shifts smoothly and down shifts quickly for passing. Mileage isn't bad for a sports car: I averaged 24 miles per gallon in a mix of city and highway driving. Keep in mind that premium gas is required for this high performance car.

With its short wheelbase and taut suspension, the SLK has sports car moves, with little body lean and tight grip in turns. The trade-off, however, is a ride that is not luxury car supple. Though it's never really harsh, it takes a smooth road to produce a real smooth ride. The body feels impressively solid for a convertible, exhibiting little of the cowl shake that usually accompanies topless cars.

Entry and exit are easier in the SLK than in many sports cars despite the low profile. All of the gauges are right where you would put them and all are easy to see with the top up. However, with the top down in the sunshine, you cannot see the analog liquid crystal displays at all. Since the steering wheel telescopes but doesn't tilt, some may find the driving position a little uncomfortable. That was not the case with me. I found the seats and the steering wheel to fit me like a glove.

There's adequate trunk room with the top up but little with it down. Storage space in the cockpit consists only of a small space behind the seats. Shallow map pockets on the doors, a small glove box and a bin in the center console. Two cup holders slide out of the dash but don't hold cups very well. While the thin roof pillars of the hard folding top promise better visibility than is usually found in convertibles, a forest of headrests and roll bars' block most of the view.

This car is very small, and doesn't have much storage room but I really liked it. It was fun to drive, the top goes down with ease, the gas mileage was impressive, it handled better than any car that I have driven and for all that it provides, the price was right. Make sure that you put this one on the top of your shopping list when looking for a two-seater luxury sport-coupe!
